COLLISION ON THE HUDSON.

A Tug Sunk by the Steam-Boat Drew—Six of the Tug's Crew Missing.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—The tow-boat Telegraph collided with the steamer Drew, about 1 o'clock this morning, four miles below Catskill. The look-out of the Drew perceived a tow coming down, piloted by the tow-boat Telegraph. Seeing imminent danger of collision, he signaled to the engineer to reverse the engine, and endeavored to warn the approaching tow of their danger. The tug kept on its way, regardless, it seems, of her repeated warnings, and, though the Drew tried to prevent it, a collision was inevitable. In an instant thereafter she struck the ill-fated Telegraph, with her bow crushing in her side, bursting her boilers, and sinking her almost immediately. Then ensued a scene of confusion—the crew springing overboard and crying for help, and the canal-boats in tow cutting loose and drifting hither and thither, crushing and grinding against each other, and doing considerable damage. The Drew immediately lowered her boats, and succeeded in picking up the engineer and three others of the unfortunate crew, who were mostly asleep at the time of the collision. The engineer was badly scalded by the bursting of the boilers, before he scarcely knew what had happened. Every attention was rendered him and the others on board of the Drew, and on the arrival of the boat at this city the engineer was taken to the hospital for treatment. There were ten of the crew in all on board the tug, the rest of whom, it is thought, were picked up by the canal-boats. The Drew sustained no injury beyond that occasioned by the shock, which caused the crew to tumble out of their berths in lively style. The other three of the crew were brought up by the Drew, and took the cars as soon as they landed and went back to the scene of the disaster.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28—Evening.—A telegram from Catskill state that the Drew sunk two canal-boats, in addition to the steam-boat Telegraph. No lives were lost.

THE INDIANS.

Hostile Demonstrations in Wyoming Territory—Pursuit of Sioux Horse-Stealers by Cavalry.

CHEYENNE, June 27.—A large force of Indians assembled at Medicine Bow River, yesterday, and exhibited signs of hostile intent. A telegram from Rawlins, Wyoming, says forty-six Sioux warriors passed near that place, yesterday, going south. In the outskirts of the village, they stole five horses and killed one man. Lieut. YOUNG, with thirty-five regulars, started in pursuit of them last night.

A Fight With the Sioux—Sixteen Killed—Another Indian Raid.

CHEYENNE, W. T., June 28.—Couriers came into Rawlins last night from Lieut. YOUNG'S command, and report that YOUNG came upon the Indians about twenty-five miles from Rawlins, and had a fight with them, about 200 in number, during which fifteen Indians were killed. No soldiers were hurt. The Lieutenant feels confident that he will capture the whole party. Lieut. O'BRIEN left Rawlins this morning with reinforcements and ammunition. It is reported at Bryan that a party of Indians, numbering about 200, came into South Pass City on Saturday morning, rode through the town and drove off about sixty or seventy head of horses.

ANOTHER HEAVY ROBBERY.

A Box of Securities Stolen in Baltimore—Contents Valued at $150,000.

BALTIMORE, June 28.—The office of the Maryland Fire Insurance Company, of Baltimore, corner of Post-office-avenue and Second-street, was robbed about noon today of United States bonds and other valuable securities to the amount of $150,000. The trunk containing the securities of the Company was brought from the safety deposit about 10½ o'clock for the purpose of inspecting a particular paper contained therein. After this had been done, about $10,000 additional securities were deposited in the trunk, which was placed behind the counter. Shortly afterward a stranger entered the office and engaged Mr. HAMBLETON, the President of the Company, in conversation relative to the insurance of a house, valued at $2,500, in Richmond, Va. Mr. HAMBLETON left his private room to ask a question of the cashier in the front office, the stranger following him and leaving the building. Immediately thereafter the loss of the trunk was discovered. Among the lost bonds are $25,000 of United States coupons of 1864, $11,000 of Northern Central Railroad coupon bonds of 1855, $13,000 of Cincinnati and Marietta Railroad second mortgage bonds, $5,000 of United States registered certificates, the remainder consisting principally of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and George's Creek stock.

THE COLORED SQUATTERS.

Gen. Sherman's Agency in Sending Troops into York County—The Facts of the Case.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—On the 30th of March last Gov. WALKER, of Virginia, inclosed to the President of the United States a joint resolution of the General Assembly of Virginia asking the assistance of United States troops in the County of York and two other counties, reciting that the mere presence of troops would enable the Sheriffs to execute the powers of the Courts. This paper was received by the President, and in the usual official form was sent by the Secretary of War, under date of April 2, 1870, to the General of the Army, who, on the same day, sent to Gen. CANBY, then commanding the Department of Virginia, instructions in these words:

HEAD-QUARTERS OF THE ARMY, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.

Respectfully referred to Gen. CANBY, who is warranted hereby to assist the civil authorities when in his judgment a case arises that warrants the use of soldiers, and when he has men to spare. But the military forces should be used with extreme caution, and only on the special orders of the Department Commander. W. T. SHERMAN, General.

This is all that Gen. SHERMAN had to do with the case—contrary to the charge recently published, that he had, of his own action, forcibly ejected negroes from estates which Gen. BUTLER had assigned them during the war on land in Virginia. There is not one word of truth in all this, and there is as yet nothing known or on record to show that any negroes or white men were ejected from their possessions. All Gen. SHERMAN did was to convey to the actual commander of the troops a knowledge of the fact that all the conditions required by the Constitution and laws of the United States had been complied with, and the troops of the United States were thereby warranted in aiding the civil officers to execute the writs of the Court. Instead of acting against the orders of the President, it was done by the specific command of the President, to whom the Governor had addressed the requisition.

EUROPE.

The Cork Rioters Quiescent—Methodism in Ireland—Collision—The Late Lord Clarendon—"Goodwood" and "St. Leger"—Fenians.

CORK, June 28—Evening.—The city has been comparatively quiet since last night. Two hundred special policemen are on duty....At a Conference of the Primitive Methodists at Belfast, Ireland, yesterday, the subject of reunion with the Irish Episcopal Church was considered, but no conclusion was reached....A collision of trains occurred today on the Belfast and Bangor Railway. Sixteen persons were seriously injured, but none were killed outright.

LONDON, June 28.—The morning journals reiterate the statement that Earl GRANVILLE, Secretary of State for the Colonial Department, will succeed the late Earl of CLARENDON as head of the Foreign Office. The Post, (Conservative organ,) says that in such case, Right Hon. CHICHESTER FORTESCUE, Chief Secretary for Ireland, will probably succeed Earl GRANVILLE in the Colonial Office. The Times, this morning, in closing its eulogy of the late Earl of CLARENDON, says:

"An ordinary man, or a mere politician, could never have attained his position. Others had to cram for new topics; he was always posted. He was a large-hearted, statesmanlike man."

It is stated that an American has offered to purchase the residence of the late Mr. DICKENS, at Gads Hill, for £20,000....It is almost generally conceded that Mr. HEGERY'S b. g. Sabinus will win the Goodwood cup next month.

The betting is now five to two against Lord FALMOUTH'S Kingcraft for the St. Leger....The Commissioners appointed by the Government to investigate the charges, so frequently made lately, that the Fenians now in confinement in England and the colonies are harshly treated, will soon enter upon their work. The prisoners will have opportunity to be heard privately before the officers of the Government. At such hearings the jailers will not be permitted to be present.

The French Emperor and the Royal Exiles—Press Prosecutions—Accouchements—A Bakers' Strike in Marseilles—Matrimonial.

PARIS, June 28.—The France (newspaper) explains that the petition of the ORLEANS Princes for the restoration of their right to live in France failed because it was addressed to the Corps Legislatif, and not to the Emperor.... A prosecution has been commenced, under the Press law, against the Réveil (newspaper,) for an article published last May, entitled "The Army and the Plebiscite."....The Infanta MARGUERITE, wife of Prince CHARLES, Duke of Madrid, has given birth to a son at Vevay. The Princess METTERNICH has been safely delivered of a daughter.

MARSEILLES, June 28.—There is a general strike among the journeymen bakers here. Their employers are willing to concede an advance of wages, but refuse to agree to certain conditions insisted upon by the men. In consequence of the nearly total suspension of the work at the bakeries the price of bread is advancing....The marriages of the Prince of VICAVARO with a daughter of LORILLARD SPENCER, and of WILLIAM DEGROOT with Miss HAWLEY, of Stamford, Conn., are announced.

Papal Appointments—Several New Bishops.

LONDON, June 28.—A dispatch from Rome states that notification has been given of the appointment by the Pope of a number of new Bishops, including three for America, to fill the Sees of Springfield, Havre de Grace, and Portau-Prince. The names of the new prelates are not given.

British Parliament—The Irish Land Bill—Education Reform in the House of Commons.

LONDON, June 28.—The House of Lords to-night continued to discuss amendments to the Irish Land bill, several of which were adopted and others rejected. The clause of the bill advancing funds to tenants for the purchase of small holdings was debated with warmth. Earl GREY opposed it because it would lead to cutting up the lands and would create broods of small debtors. Lord ORANMORE supported the claim, and appealed to the success the system has met with in Russia and Canada. Earl GRANVILLE also made a speech in favor of the clause as it stood, and the Earl of CARNARVON (Conservative) acquiesced in it. The Lords then adjourned.... The House of Commons was in Committee again on the Education bill. Mr. MONTAGUE moved to introduce a provision whereby voluntary schools could obtain Government aid. Mr. GLADSTONE deplored the introduction of the subject of voluntary schools, as its discussion must consume the remainder of the session. Mr. FORSTER said grants would be impartially made to the schools, and there was no intention of making discriminations founded on the character of any school. The motion of Mr. MONTAGUE was negatived. Mr. GEORGE DIXON moved an amendment requiring the creation of School Boards in every district and the erection of school buildings. It was opposed by the Government and failed. Another amendment giving parents an opportunity of taking part in the management of the schools was lost. The Committee then rose. Viscount SANDON moved for leave to bring in a bill for the creation of parochial councils, and enlarging the power of the parishioners respecting the conduct of public worship. Mr. BERESFORD HOPE opposed the motion. Mr. BALL thought the ecclesiastical Courts, if reformed, would suffice. Mr. GLADSTONE believed it best to proceed with caution in this matter, and counseled delay. The bill was read for the first time. The condition of the army in India furnished a topic for a short discussion, after which the House adjourned.

A Slight Conflict—Opposition to Vaccination—Sweeny and the Erie Stockholders—Agriculture—Death of a Churchman—Mr. Ashbury Orders a New Yacht.

LONDON, June 28.—It is reported that GEORGE OTTO TREVELYAN, one of the Junior Lords of the Admiralty, will resign in consequence of a variance with the Government on the Education bill, now before Parliament.... A meeting of the Anti-Vaccination League was held here yesterday. There were many speakers, who denounced vaccination in the strongest terms, and urged Parliament to repeal the laws on the subject.... The evidence taken at the Coroner's inquest on the Great Western Railway disaster goes substantially to prove that the casualty was caused by the sudden breaking of an axle, through a flaw, which could not have been detected by ordinary means....The financial editor of the London Times says the English holders of Erie Railway shares may expect copious information as to the condition of that Company, and of the progress made in the prosecution of their claims, from Mr. SWEENY, who has just arrived in this country....Reports to the agricultural journals from the south-western counties represent that the potato crop has not suffered from the drouth, and promises an abundant yield....A ladies' croquet tournament for all England is being held this week on Wimbledon Common. It is a lively and picturesque affair, and attracts large crowds of ladies and gentlemen. ....The venerable WM. HALE, Archdeacon of London, died today, in his seventy-fifth year.... Mr. ASHBURY, owner of the Cambria, before leaving for Kinsale, ordered a yacht to be built by RATHEY, at Cowes. She is to be a schooner of 270 tons burden, and is specially constructed to compete with American yachts.

The Ocean Yacht Race—Indignation Against the Contagious Diseases Act—American Vessels in the Thames.

CORK, June 28.—The yachts Cambria and Dauntless have arrived in this harbor. Their owners are the guests of the Royal Cork Yacht Club, the officers of which have offered to start them for the race on Monday.

TRIESTE, June 28.—The United States steamer Richmond arrived at this port today from Brindisi.

LONDON, June 28.—An indignation meeting of ladies was held at Shields today to protest against the Contagious Diseases act, which was pronounced an abominable measure. A daughter of JOSEPH HUME, the statesman and philosopher, occupied the chair....There are more American vessels now in the Thames than at any time since the war.

CUBA.

Value of a Spanish Pardon—Trial and Execution of a Pardoned Cuban.

HAVANA, June 28.—GONZALEZ JUNCO, an insurgent leader, who surrendered some time ago to the authorities at Villa Clara, and was pardoned by the Government, was tried and convicted, last week, for crimes committed by him while he was a rebel leader, and executed this morning at Fort Cabanas.

CANADA.

British Columbia and the Dominion—Terms of Confederation—A Liberal Offer.

OTTAWA, Ontario, June 28.—Delegates who have arrived here from British Columbia have received from the Dominion Government the terms upon which this Government is prepared to treat with the Governor and Council of that Colony for its entrance into the Canadian Union. Canada is to assume the debts and liabilities of British Columbia. The population limit, for the purpose of financial arrangements, is fixed at 100,000. The annual grant for the support of the local Government and Legislature of British Columbia is to be $35,000. Regular steam communication between Victoria and San Francisco is to be maintained fortnightly by the British steamers. This service is now performed once a month by an American steamer, which is subsidized by the Colony to the extent of $1,000 per trip. The Dominion Government will guarantee the construction, as early as practicable, of a railroad across the continent, with its western terminus at a post in British Columbia on the Pacific Coast, connecting in the east with the railroad system of Canada. "The Western Canada Great Railroad" is estimated to cost $100,000,000. Offers to build the road have been made to the Government on the basis of a grant of the alternate sections of land on each side of the road, one mile long and twelve miles deep; and a guarantee of six per cent. interest on the debentures, redeemable in twenty years. British Columbia is to be represented in the House of Commons by six representatives instead of eight, as demanded, including three Senators. The Government will guarantee that all the public officers appointed to carry out the new Government shall be in every way acceptable to the people of British Columbia. The tariff of the Dominion will be extended over the Colony, and the present tariff of British Columbia discontinued. The terms also refer to the extension of the postal service; the erection of an hospital, a lunatic asylum and a penitentiary; the protection of the fisheries, the election of Senators, the formal admission of the Colony into the Union, the defense of the Colony, and aid to the volunteer force, in all of which requirements the delegates declare themselves to be perfectly satisfied.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

Death of a Captain in the Navy—Progress of Sutro Tunnel.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Capt. J. D. ROBINSON, of the United States Navy, died yesterday. The remains will be taken to New-York for interment. Capt. ROBINSON commanded the Pensacola during the engagement in Mobile Bay.... The Commissioners to arrange for and supervise the extension of Montgomery-street qualified today. They will begin work at once....The Sutro Tunnel has reached a depth of 1,270 feet.

FIRES.

Another Destructive Oil Fire—Tanks Burned in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Penn., June 28.—The most disastrous oil fire which ever occurred in this city is now raging, near the Sharpsburg Bridge, in the Eighteenth Ward. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, during a terrible rain-storm, in which houses were blown down and trees uprooted, a twenty thousand barrel tank, belonging to the Eclipse Refinery was struck by lightning. Another tank, belonging to the Citizens' Refinery, was struck at the same time. The Eclipse tank instantly exploded, the burning oil running toward the river, burning all the buildings, including Dr. TWEDDLE'S house, and setting fire to the Sharpsburg Bridge, which was totally destroyed. The Citizens' Refinery, with one tank of crude oil, and a warehouse, were burned. FORSYTH BROTHERS lose one tank of 3,000 barrels of crude oil. The Astral Works of JOHN B. BELL & SONS, lose buildings, &c. The Anchor works of DILWORTH BROTHERS, lose one tank of crude oil. The National Refinery and Storing Company's bleaching-house was destroyed. The Alleghany Valley Railway Company had ten cars crude oil burned, and lose on oil $6,000, and on cars $8,000. The Sharpsburg Bridge, which was insured for $40,000. Estimated losses: Citizens' Refinery, $20,000; fully insured. Eclipse—Building, $15,000; oil, $8,000; machinery, &c., $60,000; insured in Eastern companies. SWEARINGEN & MCCANDLESS, agency for FORSYTH BROTHERS, $15,000; no insurance. Astral Works, $40,000; but little insurance; the works were not in operation. Anchor Works, $1,300; National Works, $15,000, partially insured. The total loss is probably $800,000. HENRY B. FOSTER, brother of the late STEPHEN C. FOSTER, a clerk at the Eclipse Refinery, was burned to death. VALENTINE HOLLEY was injured, but not fatally.

Destructive Fire in Providence—Loss $100,000.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 28.—A fire broke out about 3 o'clock this morning, on Dorrance-street dock, and destroyed the coal elevator, sheds, and considerable of the stock of TUCKER, SWAN & Co., O. W. & E. A. HOPKINS, and property of the Providence and Worcester Railroad Company, and damaged the adjoining property. The loss is estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. TUCKER, SWAN & Co. are insured for $20,200, and HOPKINS for $10,000. KNIGHT, CUTTER & Co. lost 2,000 bushels of corn, which was not insured. The firemen were at work at noon on the burning coal. The fire was probably the work of design. Another incendiary fire occurred at the same time near by, causing a loss of $3,000 to DAVID LESTER'S coffee and spice mills, and $5,000 to E. T. ADAMS & Co.'s paper-box factory.

Another Scarcity of Water Feared in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—Fears are entertained of another scarcity of water at the Fairmount Water-works, if the present dry weather continues. There are now but three inches of water passing over the dam which gives power to work the turbine wheels. The reservoirs mainly depend on the working of those wheels for their supply of water. The City Council have been talking over since last Summer about the importance of using stationary steam-engines to fill the reservoirs during drouths, but nothing has been done.

Democratic Nominations for Congress in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—The Democrats met in Convention today, and nominated the following candidates for Congress: First District, SAMUEL J. RANDALL, renominated by acclamation; Second District, THEODORE CUYLER; Third District, Dr. MOFFET. In the Fourth District the Convention adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman, and it is understood that this really means an indorsement of WM. B. THOMAS, who was recently nominated in opposition to Mr. KELLEY, the Republican candidate.

Gun-Cotton Explosion—Portion of a Wall Blown Out.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 28.—This morning an explosion occurred in HYATT'S billiard ball manufactory, on Beaver-street, which blew out a portion of the rear wall of the building and set the house on fire. The explosion was caused by mice nibbling matches lying among a quantity of gun-cotton, which was employed in the manufacture of billiard balls. The damage to the building is about $2,000.

WASHINGTON.

The President and the San Domingo Question—His Reply to His Slanderers—The Senate on the Tax Bill—The Currency Bill—Dispatch of Business in the House and Delays in the Senate—Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—At the conclusion of the morning hour, today, the Senate, by a vote of 29 to 25, went into Executive Session on the St. Domingo treaty. Before the treaty was taken up, however, Senator SHERMAN made an earnest appeal to the Senate to go on with the consideration of the Tax bill, so that it might be finished to-day. It was suggested that a vote be taken on the treaty without debate, which suggestion came very near being adopted, but finally, by a vote of 31 to 26, the Senate resolved to go on with the Tax bill, and the treaty was postponed. The opponents of the treaty argue that this was a test vote, and indicates its certain defeat. But it was not a test vote, and though the treaty may not receive the necessary number of votes for ratification, yet it will appear much stronger than its enemies predict. The base use made of the protocol which has been published has aroused a deep feeling of indignation among many of the President's friends in the Senate, and the action of Senator SCHURZ and his adherents is likely to be subjected to a scorching review when the matter comes up. Senator NYE having addressed an inquiry to the President respecting this so-called protocol, the latter has sent him the following:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27, 1870.

SIR: In reply to your letter of today, I am pleased to inform you that Gen. BABCOCK did not exceed my wishes or my verbal instructions to him in connection with the Confidential Basis. Gen. BABCOCK was sent to St. Domingo, to ascertain so far as he could, the wishes of the Dominican people and Government with respect to annexation to the United States. If he found them favorable, he was directed to ascertain the terms on which they desired annexation. He brought the Confidential Basis, which was not binding or intended to be binding upon either Government, unless each saw fit to continue the negotiations. It contains a clause making it null and void unless accepted and carried into effect. I also directed the Secretary of the Navy to send by Gen. BABCOCK such instructions to the commanding officer of the United States steamer Semmole as would direct him to seize the Telegrafo, if found on the high seas, and send her to Baltimore for adjudication, she having interfered with our merchant shipping. In transferring these instructions to the commanding officer of the Tuscarora, Gen. BABCOCK did no more than was his duty. Gen. BABCOCK'S conduct throughout meets my entire approval.

Yours truly, U. S. GRANT.

To Hon. JAMES W. NYE, United States Senate.

THE TAX BILL.

The Senate made very good progress today on the Tax bill, the speeches being under the five-minute rule. Some of the Senators, therefore, did not get further than the mere indication of their ideas before their time was up. The speeches as a consequence were mostly short, sensible and business-like; and as many Senators cannot express a single idea in five minutes, there was less of them. Mr. SHERMAN made an effort to reconsider the action of yesterday on sugar, and was successful by one majority. The House provision for reduction was stricken out, the Committee's amendment was withdrawn, and the effect is to leave the tariff on sugars precisely as it is at present. The consideration of the bill then went on rapidly, and all the Committee's amendments were accepted. The House increase on liquors and wines, on spices, on hemp, on jute, &c., were all rejected. Wool on the skin was accepted, as were also the House rates on scrap-iron, pig-iron and Bessemer steel. An amendment reclassifying and materially increasing the duties on certain kinds of wire, was also adopted, having been industriously engineered by representatives of a particular special interest. On the appeal of Mr. SPRAGUE, a specific duty was placed on corsets. Coal was finally reached, when Pennsylvania and West Virginia rebelled at the action of the Committee in placing the duty at fifty cents per ton on bituminous, and a discussion ensued which lasted until adjournment. The bill will probably be finished to-morrow.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

When Gen. GARFIELD brought up his conference report on the Currency bill in the House today, it was immediately assailed by the Democratic and Republican inflationists as a contraction measure. A vigorous discussion followed, from which it is certain that there will be strong opposition to the adoption of the report. The Western greenback men charge that it is a contraction measure, but, inasmuch as it practically adds forty millions of new bank circulation to the Southern States, it will probably have the support of their delegations, which will carry it. Should the report be disagreed to, it will be a final failure for the session, for the Senate are set as a flint against any thing which looks like an increase of the currency.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATIONS.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation bill was finished today. Quite a contest occurred over several items to pay individual claims found due by the Departments, but for which there are no appropriations. They were all passed, however. This is the last of the General Appropriation bills, save a bill to provide for the expenses of the taking of the Census, to which will be added a few small contingent items which have been accidentally omitted from the previous bills.

THE GEORGIA BILL.

The Georgia bill lies on the table in the Senate, and will be called up as soon as Mr. TRUMBULL, who is absent, shall return. It seems to be the sentiment of a majority of the members of the Judiciary Committee to concur in the House bill, in which case Georgia will be admitted with little further discussion.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

The intimation that the Senate will ask for an extension of the time for adjournment is received with indignant comment by members of the House. There is no probability that the House will agree to any extension of the time. By Thursday it will have concluded original action on all important measures, and will be waiting upon the action of the Senate, with a very strong inclination to press that body into a more speedy dispatch of the public business.

THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Senate, by special assignment, devoted its morning hour today to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad bill. It vindicated its good faith the laws by which Indian titles were created, by adopting, by a vote of 26 to 20, an amendment providing that neither the original nor the present land grants shall apply to lands in the Indian Territory, and requiring that full compensation shall be made for all lands taken from the Indians for depot or other purposes. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the Southern Pacific Railroad bill passed, was entered by Mr. CAMERON, in the interest of the Pennsylvania iron-masters, who announced his intention to offer an amendment that not more than 20,000 tons of foreign iron shall be used in the construction of the road.

A GENERAL AMNESTY BILL.

The Reconstruction Committee, today, agreed to report the General Amnesty bill on Thursday. Mr. BECK was authorized to offer a substitute prepared by him, granting unconditional amnesty to all but persons belonging to the excepted classes enumerated in Mr. BUTLER'S bill, thus dispensing with the sections relating to rights of property and titles to property variously acquired during the war. It was agreed that if the House preferred his bill, Gen. BUTLER should ask its postponement until next December.

THE SEA ISLANDS.

The Committee also instructed Gen. PAINE to report a bill to define and settle titles in the Cotton Islands in South Carolina. Much of these lands has been under the control of the Freedmen's Bureau, and the object of the bill is to finally confirm the colored occupants in their ownership. The Committee are by no means unanimous about the bill, and there will be opposition to it in the House, which will probably send it over till December.

ALASKA FURS.

The House today, passed by a very large majority, the Senate bill to get some revenue out of Alaska by regulating the taking of fur seals and continuing the trade in the hands of the parties who have hitherto conducted it. The bill allowing direct importation to inland ports of entry, was also passed without serious opposition.

THE HEAT.

This has been the most oppressive day here since the heated term began. The thermometer stood at 92° at 9 A. M., 98° at 2 P. M., and 92½° at 7 P. M. On the floor of the House it rose to 86°, notwithstanding the devices to reduce the temperature by the absorption of the heat by evaporation on the roof. The enervation of the heated term is largely increased by the hot nights which follow the hot days, and for which there is no relief here until after the 20th of July. Rain fell all around the city last night, at Richmond and at Baltimore, but none here.

CADETS "PLUCKED."

Five of the cadets-at-large appointed by the President, last year, to enter West Point on the 1st of July, have been set aside by the Board of Examiners as incompetent, and will not be admitted.

PERSONAL.

Gen. PLEASONTON, Collector of the Twenty-second Revenue District of New-York, is in town. His collections for June, so far, are over $800,000. Since the 1st of April he has collected nearly $2,000,000. Gen. THOS. E. STEWART is also in the city.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

THE ALASKA FUR BILL.

The Senate bill, which passed the House today, prevents the extermination of fur-bearing animals in Alaska, and leases the privilege for seal-fishing to a company, for twenty years, on such terms as will give the Government for that period a revenue of $5,000,000. The Company is placed under heavy bonds and penalties for the fulfillment of its agreement.

NOMINATIONS.

The President sent to the Senate today the following nominations: EDWARD E. DOUGLAS, to be United States Marshal for the Northern District of Alabama. JOHN C. BURTON, to be Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Fourth Indiana District.

CONFIRMATION.

The Senate, in Executive Session today, confirmed the nomination of BYRON G. DANIELS to be Assessor of Internal Revenue for New-Mexico.

BILLS SIGNED.

The following bills were signed by the President today:

The act declaring the bridge between Philadelphia and Camden a post route; the act making the 25th day of December, the 4th day of July, and Thanksgiving Day, holidays within the District of Columbia; the joint resolution concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California; and the resolution donating condemned ordnance for a soldiers' monument at Poughkeepsie.

Central America—Troubles with the Indians in Chili—Fears of an Epidemic—Peru—Exports of Guano during 1869—Railroad Enterprise.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PANAMA, Wednesday, June 1, 1870.

By the arrival of the Panama Railroad Company's steam-ship in the Bay of Panama on the 31st ult., I am able to forward you the latest news from Central America. From Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador, there is absolutely no news, everything being quiet and peace prevailing. From Honduras it is announced that the Honduras Interoceanic Railroad is progressing, having above 1,000 men at work—fifty miles being leveled and surveyed. The new iron mole at Cortez has been finished, and the government of Honduras had made a contract with a house in Belize to have an electric cable laid between Jamaica, Cuba and Port Cortez.

CHILI.

The latest news from Chili is to the 29th, by the arrival of the steam-ship Panama. The correspondent of the Star & Herald writes from Valparaiso, under date of the 10th ult., as follows: The news which has just reached here from the Araucanian frontier is somewhat startling. It appears that above 3,000 Indians are ready to take the field against the national troops. A letter from Angeles, under date of the 9d inst., states that they are beleaguering the Malleco Forts, and that an assault would be made by them ere long. The National Regiment of Nacimiento has consequently been called into active service, as the Government troops are insufficient in number to be able to withstand the fierce onslaught that will be made on them by the exasperated Indians. The worst is that the wet season about setting in, is just the favorable time for them, and many settlers on the frontier, foreseeing rapine and bloodshed, are preparing to leave with their families as fast as they can. No mention is, however, made respecting the French adventurer, who, under the title of ORELIE ANTONIO I., has been stated to have assumed royal sway over the barbarous hordes. It is to be earnestly hoped that the Government will spare no efforts to put a speedy stop to this disagreeable state of things, and teach the Araucanos and their self-styled French King a severe lesson. ....Now that all the elections are fairly over things have settled down again to their old jog-trot style of daily life here and at Santiago. Many complaints are heard about dullness in commercial transactions, but this has always been the case at the commencement of the Winter season which has set in this year with unusual severity....Many cases of small-pox have unfortunately occurred both here and at the Capital, and it is feared the disease may assume an epidemic character.

PERU.

The Audit-office, or "Contaduria," of the Callao Custom-house, has furnished the Board of Revenue (Direccion de Rentas) with some interesting statistics relative to the exportation of guano during the year 1869. The following data are extracted therefore as being of sufficient importance to be made public:

Destination.	Tons.	Valuation.	Amount.
England	196,840	38.63	7,603,929.20
France	107,580	42.39	4,560,316.20
Spain, including Havana	15,088	36.77	554,885.76
Belgium	85,428	42.00	3,587,976.00
Holland	2,737	38.63	105,756.94
Germany	66,827	35.05	2,331,645.65
North America	25,321	35.34	892,813.04
Italy	5,000	40.94	204,700.00
China	2,016	30.40	61,286.40
Total Sols			20,193,146.59

The valuation as marked signifies the net amount received by the Treasury for each ton. After all charges, including exchange, have been deducted, the grand total results in the not despicable figure of above twenty million of sols, more than five millions sterling. The exports during the present year promise to be much larger, inasmuch as the greatest activity is evinced by the loading empresa at the Guañape Islands, where the indefatigable Mr. J. D. HARRIS, Jr., is continually busy with the erecting of more shoots, some of which might almost have been deemed as impossible of construction, and thus greatly facilitating and accelerating the loading of the articles, even at places almost inaccessible, or thought to be so at all events....Señor D. JUAN UGARTE, perhaps one of the wealthiest men in Peru, has proposed to the Government to lay a railway between the newly-named port of Salaverry (vice Huanchaco) and the large town of Trujillo, capital of the important department La Libertad, at his own expense, under certain conditions. His proposal has been duly accepted, and he is to have an exclusive privilege during the period of the first twenty-five years. The works are to be commenced forty days after the signing of the contract, (which is already done) and to be completely finished in two years from hence....The port of Callao and adjacent suburb of Bellavista wore an extra holiday garb on Sunday last. His Excellency, President BALTA, accompanied by Ministers, various Generals, &c., laid the foundation-stone of a new market, which, according to the plans, promises to be quite an imposing structure. He also inaugurated the new fountain in the square at Bellavista, causing, what with display of flags, military music, &c., the dreary little township to be quite enlivened for once in the way.

THE DARIEN EXPEDITION.

The Final Explorations—Progress of the Work—Consultation of Commanders Selfridge and Eastman—Abandonment of the Work.

We give below a letter from our correspondent at Aspinwall, which has been delayed, detailing the closing work of the Darien Expedition:

ASPINWALL, COLON, Isthmus of Panama, Thursday, June 2, 1870.

My last letter contained news from the Darien Canal Expedition to the 12th of May, since which time I have had the good fortune to receive reliable information at several different times, so that I am enabled to lay before your readers a continuation of the interesting history of these surveys, and bring them down to within a few hours of the departure of this mail. Up to the 17th ult., the rains had been so heavy as to about suspend operations. The whole bottom-land of the Mandinga River, which flows into the Bay of San Blas, was overflowed. The first party surveying, under command of Lieut. HITCHCOCK, of the Guard, had advanced some twelve miles from the mouth of El Rio Mandinga, but only four or five miles in a direct line from the Bay of San Blas. The severe rains caused the river to rise very rapidly at times. On one occasion it rose to the height of nine or ten feet in the course of an hour. Considerable damage was done thereby to stores, which were being conveyed to the front by way of the river. The donkeys procured at Carthagena for transporting supplies at Caledonia Bay, were of little use at San Blas.

EXPERIENCES OF A SECOND PARTY.

On the 18th the prospects looked so gloomy that the entire party, under Lieut. HITCHCOCK, returned to San Blas; but Commander SELFRIDGE, determined "not to give up the ship," immediately sent out another party under command of Lieut. HUBBARD, of the Nipsic. From the 18th to the 29th, the weather had been dry and pleasant, and Lieut. HUBBARD'S party were pushing forward the surveys rapidly. They had reached the foot of the dividing ridge, and had received intelligence that the party from the Nyack were at the foot of the mountain on the Pacific side. There is certainly one great objection to the San Blas route; the Chepo bar on the Pacific is but eleven or twelve feet below low-water mark; it is very crooked and the sea breaks over it fearfully. There is no safe anchorage there—only a few days since, during a blow, the Nyack was obliged to steam up to Panama for safety. The Nipsic, Commander SELFRIDGE, arrived at Aspinwall, Colon, late Tuesday evening, the 31st ultimo, and proceeded to Panama the next morning, to consult with Lieut.-Commander EASTMAN.

PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

The work is progressing satisfactorily now on both sides. On the Atlantic the highest land is some nine hundred feet above tide-water. It is proposed to lock up two hundred feet and then tunnel the mountain; that is, if the Pacific side is found to present as favorable appearance as the Atlantic. Should the mountain recede gradually on the Pacific slope, and the tunnel have to be a long one, the route will undoubtedly be pronounced impracticable. The Nipsic will return to San Blas in a few days, and if the weather continues fine complete the surveys there. It is remarkable that the entire expedition still enjoys good health, and all are in fine spirits, notwithstanding their daily exposure to sun and rain in a wild, tropical forest.

ABANDONMENT OF THE WORK FOR THE PRESENT.

Thursday Night.—The steamer is just ready to sail, and will give me time only to add, that after an interview with Lieut.-Commander EASTMAN, Commander SELFRIDGE returned to this city, this afternoon, and in an interview with him, I learn that he will immediately return to San Blas, and, as soon as practicable, the expedition will return direct to the United States. There will be no more work done this season, and I have no doubt the surveys at San Blas will be abandoned forever, and the route pronounced impracticable. And so ends the great Darien surveys. You will remember I have from the first said that the result of the expedition would prove the Caledonia and San Blas routes impracticable for the construction of a ship-canal.

The following is received by the Associated Press:

GULF OF SAN BLAS, June 10.—The party which, under Mr. OGDEN, of the Coast Survey, and Ensign JASPER, U. S. N., were surveying the Nercalagua River, returned on the 4th of June, having made a survey of that river to the foot of the division ridge, a distance by the river courses of seventeen miles. Messrs. MOSER and BOWDITCH, who started on a reconnaissance over the dividing ridge between the Samgundi and the Jan José or Marmoni Rivers, returned to the ships on the 7th of June, having been absent seven days, and having reached the Marmoni River. Since their return the surveying party under Lieut. HITCHCOCK has also passed over the same ground. Lieut. HITCHCOCK, with a small party, descended the Marmoni River a distance of four miles from the end of the line of levels. The last party is now en route for the ships at this place, and will probably reach here early to-morrow afternoon, when the expedition will immediately set sail. The height of the Marmoni at the end of the line of levels is 200 feet. Lieut. HITCHCOCK think he has discovered gold in the streams on the Pacific slope.

The Nipsic will go first to Aspinwall, and after a brief stay there will proceed directly to New-York. The Guard will convey the native laborers and donkeys to Carthagena, and then sail for home.

The health of the expedition is generally good.

Arrival of the Nipsic.

The United States gun-boat Nipsic, Commander SELFRIDGE, arrived in the Lower Bay from Aspinwall, late last night, and anchored.

MRS. VREELAND SENTENCED.

Her Trial and Conviction in the Court of General Sessions Yesterday—Confinement in State Prison for Four Years the Penalty.

The case of The People vs. CAROLINE E. VREELAND, came up for trial, yesterday, before Recorder HACKETT, at the Court of General Sessions. The defendant, it will be remembered, was present at Judge DOWLING'S Police Court on the 10th of June, where her daughter, ADA MYERS, was engaged in prosecuting ROBERT SCHROEDER, for having attempted, as was alleged, to procure an abortion on the body of ADA. Being requested to withdraw to another room while her daughter's examination was going on, and seeing, it was said, no chance of procuring a pecuniary settlement of the transaction, she became frantic, and coming into the examiner's room, where, seated around the table, were SCHROEDER and EDWIN JAMES, his counsel, and Mr. LANDSMAN, ADA MYERS and Mr. HOWE, her counsel, struck three downward blows at SCHROEDER'S back with a knife, neither of which inflicted a fatal wound.

Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWS—having thus briefly stated the case, examined Justice DOWLING, EDWIN JAMES, counsel for Mr. SCHROEDER, STEPHEN HAYES, and Mr. LANDMAN, who detailed the facts of the assault, as stated above, about which there was no dispute.

Mr. LANDSMAN was the next witness for the prosecution. His evidence, in addition to the foregoing, contained Mrs. VREELAND'S reply to his exclamation, "Woman, you have killed the man." "That's what I intended to do." The prosecution here rested.

Mr. HOWE, in opening the defense, expressed his surprise at the absence of SCHROEDER from this trial, and was going on to explain the relations between the prisoner's daughter ADA and him to show how, by her seduction, the mother's feelings had been so outraged that in a fit of temporary insanity she struck deliberately at the life of the seducer. He then called her to the stand, where she said that she went to the Tombs on the day in question, having been subpœnaed by SCHROEDER'S counsel; that she carried a knife with her daily to scare robbers, for she believed, from one of some books on one occasion; she was a book canvasser; she loved her daughter so dearly that, on learning the story of her dishonor and confronting her despoiler in the Tombs Court-room, she was driven to desperation and hardly knew what she did. She also testified that the death of her nephew, who had committed suicide a short time previous in a fit of insanity, had very much unsettled her mind. She had five aunts, all of whom were insane; her maiden name was KENDRICK; her first husband was MYERS, her second, Lieut. SHELLEY, and her last a Mr. VREELAND, of Newark, Jersey. Her counsel here attempted to establish a plea of hereditary insanity, which he tried to prove, that Mrs. VREELAND was suffering from at the time she assaulted SCHROEDER, brought on by the wrongs her daughter had sustained at his hands. At this stage, and many times thereafter, Recorder HACKETT cautioned Mr. HOWE to refrain from referring to the daughter's trouble, as it was totally irrelevant to the case now on trial, which he stated to be merely whether the prisoner at the bar attacked SCHROEDER with the intent to kill, do him serious bodily harm, assault and battery, or whether she was an irresponsible being at that moment. Several witnesses were called who testified to the singularity of her behavior at times when they had seen her.

Mr. LEVINE, formerly her lawyer, GEO. J. LENALL, THOS. S. BRENNAN, Warden of Bellevue Hospital, all bore witness to the eccentricity of her manner on many occasions.

MARGARET W. NORTON, of Boston, a sister of the accused said that about twenty-two years ago, Mrs. VREELAND would go out nights, converse with the stars, stones, trees and flowers, and act in a most strange manner, saying that they told her strange stories; she would be violent at other times, so much so as to lead her friends to think her mad. At sixteen she went on the stage and became an actress. D. C. TAYLOR, LYDIA WYLIE, F. TAYLOR, of Massachusetts, and relatives of the prisoner, all tesufied to her periodical fits of insanity, citing instances of violence, and the fear threatening to kill a man at one time, who had failed to keep a trifling promise he had made her. Mrs. ELLEN M. COOK, by whom the prisoner was employed as a book-canvasser, and WM. A. NORTON, of Boston, were called to support the same plea of hereditary insanity.

ADA MYERS, daughter of the accused, aged seventeen, said that she had prevented her mother from committing suicide on two occasions. One attempt was made with laudanum, another with arsenic, which she always carried in her little pocket-book. Since the accident was not-suited in the notable Vreeland vs. Vreeland suit. ADA said her mother had not certainly been in her right mind. This witness gave a somewhat similar account of the assault in the Tombs Court-room.

On cross-examination, witness said that she (witness) had been married twice, the first time at the age of fourteen years and seven months; that she had lived only three months with her first husband, from whom she obtained a divorce. She then related the story of wrongs and the abortion alleged to have been procured by SCHROEDER. During this testimony the prisoner fainted. When she recovered Mr. EDWIN JAMES was recalled by the District-Attorney, who, in rebuttal to the assertion that the previous witness or the prisoner had never spoken with him on the matter, clearly stated that Mrs. VREELAND had come to his office several times during the pendency of the suit, and tendered him money from SCHROEDER, his client, and seeking to levy black mail. This he refused to give, telling her that the only money his client would spend would be in prosecuting her for her malpractices. She knew well enough the whole transaction between her daughter and SCHROEDER, and "put up the job" to blackmail him after the prisoner had been arrested at the time of the assault, ADA had implored him on her knees to save her mother. She had also confessed that she had been induced by her mother to make the charge against SCHROEDER.

Here the District-Attorney produced an authenticated copy of the record of the sentence to one year in the House of Correction in Boston, in 1863 of CAROLINE E. SHELLY, for stealing a gold watch and a quantity of clothing. Mr. HOWE read the pardon which was afterwards granted her. Mr. HOWE for the defense, and Mr. FELLOWS for the prosecution, addressed the jury. Recorder HACKETT delivered his charge, and after a few moments' retirement the jury returned a verdict of guilty of a felonious assault, with an intent to do serious bodily injury, with a recommendation to the mercy of the Court. The Recorder sentenced the prisoner to the State Prison for four years, saying that he had just received documentary evidence of her having formerly led an infamous life.

THE MICHEL MURDER

Investigation by Coroner Keenan—The Prisoner's Confession—He is Held for Trial.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon, by Coroner KEENAN, in the case of DANIEL MICHEL, who died from the effects of a stab wound sustained at the hands of THOMAS SHERIDAN, aged nineteen, and residing at No. 310 East Thirty-second-street. The inquest was held in the Morgue building, and the prisoner appeared to have no friends with him. He was very quiet in his demeanor, and surprised those who had not seen him before, by his youthful appearance. The evidence as set forth the facts as already detailed in the TIMES, which are fresh in the minds of our readers.

The jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death from peritonitis, the result of a stab-wound sustained at the hands of THOMAS SHERIDAN. The prisoner was then formally examined, and gave as his defense that he had followed the deceased to ask why he had struck him, and that while they were fighting at the corner of Third-avenue and Thirty-seventh-street he stabbed him with a pen-knife because he (the prisoner) was "getting the worst of the fight." The Coroner then remanded SHERIDAN to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Pleasing Entertainment at the Allen-street Church.

On Monday evening the Literary Society of the Allen-street M. E. Church—composed entirely of young men—gave their first public entertainment, in the lecture-room of the church. The place was comfortably filled with the friends of the members, all of whom were well pleased with the effort. The exercises were enlivened by a number of choice selections of music, by the Glee Club of the Young Men's Christian Association. The President, S. S. STEVENS, occupied the chair. The following is the programme, in full:

The Celebration of the Fourth of July.

It has already been stated that the Commissioners of Public Parks have undertaken to provide for the celebration of the Fourth of July by the exhibition of fire-works and by music. The sum of $15,000 has been appropriated for this purpose, and the places designated for the display are the City Hall Park, Mount Morris and Tompkins squares, Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-eighth-street and School-house-green. The fire-works are of a rather less expensive character than those hitherto displayed on the Fourth, but as an abundance of them is promised, they will doubtless give every satisfaction. Those for the City Hall were brought down yesterday and stored in one of the upper rooms of the Hall.

A New Hospital.

The small building in the City Hall Park fronting on Chambers-street, formerly occupied by the Croton Aqueduct Department, was opened, yesterday morning, as a hospital for the accommodation of persons suffering from sunstroke or accident. The interior of the building has been fitted up with every necessary accommodation, and the establishment is under the care of a warden, matron and three nurses. All cases occurring south of Fourteenth-street will hereafter be taken to this hospital, which is under the direction of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Before Judge Benedict.

COLLISION AT SEA.

Jacob Lorillard et al. vs. The Steam-ship Santiago de Cuba.—This action arose out of a collision that occurred off Square Inlet on the night of Feb. 1, 1870, between the Santiago de Cuba, bound from Havre to New-York, and The Brunette, a propeller of about 250 tons burden, bound from New-York to Philadelphia. The two steamers came together at full speed on a clear starlight night, in an open sea, with no other vessels near to interfere with their motions. The result of the collision was the instant sinking of the Brunette and the death of several of her crew. The defendants admit that the lights of the Brunette were properly set, and thus mislead the Santiago in regard to the course she was pursuing, until it was too late for the vessels to avoid each other. The Court, however, finds the Santiago wholly responsible for the damage which resulted.

RESPONSIBILITY OF EXPRESS COMPANIES.

George Place et al. vs. The Steam-boat City of Norwich.—In this case, at the first hearing, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, and the subject referred to the United States Commissioner to ascertain the damages. After taking proofs, he reported that the property lost, by the carelessness of said steamboat authorities, amounted to $9,977. Exception was taken to the report, and the point raised that since in their agreement for specially stated that any box or package lost would more than $100 be paid unless special agreement was made, therefore, the plaintiff could not recover more than that amount.

The Court, however, holds that such words could be effective in limiting the recovery of the libelants in a case like this, where it has been decided that the loss of the goods ensued from actual negligence on the part of the carriers. The exceptions, therefore, were overruled, and the report confirmed.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Cardozo.

UNDER WHAT CIRCUMSTANCES A CORPORATION MAY BE DISSOLVED—IMPORTANT DECISION IN THE PHŒNIX RUBBER COMPANY CASE—RECEIVER APPOINTED.

John H. Cheever vs. Warren Ackerman et al.—This action was brought by the plaintiff as a stockholder of the Phœnix Rubber Company against other stockholders, and also against the directors thereof, to recover from them his share of the assets, amounting, as he claimed, to several hundred thousand dollars. The case came before the Court on a motion for the appointment of a receiver and for other purposes.

Jerome Fowler, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Curtis & Macy for the defendants. Judge CARDOZO gave the following opinion on the decision of the motion:

CARDOZO, J.—This is a plain case for a receiver. The defendant, Ackerman, does not hold the property as an officer of the Phœnix Rubber Company; that Company is practically dissolved; a dissolution of a Company need not necessarily be by a judicial proceeding; when, as here, the Company sells out its machinery, and the lands on which its manufactories stand, and stops its business, discharges its clerks, takes down its sign, ceases to elect officers, and does nothing but commence to divide up its assets among its stockholders, abandoning its business, and ceasing to manufacture for more than five years, the corporation is at an end; from that time Mr. Ackerman's possession was that of a trustee for himself and the other stockholders in the Company, and any one of them has a right to call on him to account in an action in which all the stockholders, as here, are made parties. The Company being out of existence by the acts of those who were interested in it, need not be made a party to the action, which seeks to obtain Mr. Ackerman, who, as I have said, does not any longer represent a living corporation, but holds only as agent or trustee for his late associates to account for what he has got. Such being so, there is no defect of parties. The reasons for a receiver are plain. In the first place, Mr. Ackerman is a non-resident, and although that alone is not invariably a cause for appointing a receiver, it is a circumstance well entitled to consideration. But the refusal of Mr. Ackerman to exhibit the books; the fact that he made entries in them since the commencement of this suit; his conduct in making the change in the salary for several years after the Company was practically dead; the manner in which he claims to have settled, after this suit, a demand presented after this suit, by a company in which he is largely interested, and of which he is a prominent officer—in fine, the circumstance that his interest in that Company and in the other claims which he presented individually, and on a number of the firm of Warren, Ackerman & Co., is in direct conflict with his position as trustee for the stockholders of the Phœnix Company, make it clear that a receiver should be appointed. An order to that effect will be made accordingly made. As to the property for which Mr. Ackerman must account to the receiver, I am of opinion that he ought not to be permitted to change the condition of affairs from what it was when this suit commenced. The payments to himself must be treated as if not made, and also the payment which he claims to have made to the Union India Rubber Company." The circumstances attending the alleged settlement, made at the time and in the manner that it was after this suit, and after the lapse of a long period, and without notice to the plaintiff, leave it, I think, to be established on the firm before it should be regarded as made. If Mr. Ackerman has in point of fact paid that money, and if it were really due, of course it will be finally allowed to him, and if he is inconvenienced by having it treated for the present as not being made, it is his own fault, for he might well have expected that its good faith would be doubted, under the circumstances which attended the presentation of the claim and its alleged payment. He ought not to have changed, or attempted to change, the condition of affairs as it was when the suit was commenced, and must bear the consequences of doing so. As to the amount claimed for commissions, I think it enough to say that upon all the papers before me it is plain that the amount could not have been retained by Warren, Ackerman & Co. out of the proceeds of sales made by them, for the simple reason that those proceeds never came into the hands of the firm. Whether the firm has a claim for them or not is not the question now. They could only be extended from the receivership upon the theory that they were no part of the assets in the hands of Mr. Ackerman. Accordingly they have not been deducted and retained by his firm before the proceeds of sales had been paid over to him. That is not so. He must account, therefore, for the amount claimed by the plaintiff. If Whitbully entitled to them, his firm will receive them hereafter. But I do not see why Mr. Ackerman should be obliged to pay over to the receiver the entire fund. He has an interest in it, and if he tenders sufficient to cover the share of Mr. Cheever, I think that is all that should be required. Mr. Ackerman must execute an assignment and deliver over to a receiver (to be appointed upon the making of the order herein), according to the views and principles above expressed. He must also attend before a referee and submit to such examination, in respect to the property, as may be necessary in the premises. The order may also provide that it is made without prejudice to any future application to oblige Mr. Ackerman to deliver any further amount in case it should appear that the amount surrendered by him to the receiver, is not sufficient to represent the share of the plaintiff. The costs of this motion may be costs in the cause.

E. W. Stoughton and William E. Curtis for the motion; Wm. M. Evarts and T. C. T. Buckley opposed.

TUESDAY, June 28—P. M.

It is announced from Washington that many of our great Dry Goods Jobbers made little or no money last year. Mr. STEWART returns only $100,000 income, and Mr. CLAFLIN and others still smaller profits. This was not wholly the fault of the trade of the country for 1869, which was 10@12 ₱ cent. larger than for the previous year. The September Gold movement no doubt entailed heavy losses on the Importers of Dry Goods and other heavy concerns. The panic of the 24th of that month was succeeded by a rapid decline in Gold to 135 ₱ cent., and then by slow degrees to 125 ₱ cent., to the close of the year, when these merchants had to take account of stock on hand and to revalue their goods, in order to ascertain their incomes. We have no doubt that similar losses, by depreciation, occurred in the early months of the present year with such merchants as Mr. STEWART, who thought Gold cheap at 125, still cheaper at 122@120, and were utterly surprised and taken all aback in their business when the price fell in March to 110½@111 ₱ cent. Yet the business of the country has gone on as usual, increasing month by month in nearly all departments, and in some more decidedly than in the consumption of Foreign Merchandise. At the end of the fiscal Year, on Thursday next, June 30, it will be found that the Treasury has received $12,500,000 in Customs Duties, and the country has consumed about $28,000,000 or $30,000,000 more of Foreign Goods than last year, and that we have exported at least one hundred millions more of Domestic Produce (Gold values) in settlement of our Foreign balances than last year. The aggregate incomes of this City and suburbs, notwithstanding the diminished profits of Mr. STEWART and the Dry-goods Importing interest, of which he is considered a representative man, are fully equal to last year, and the savings of the industrial classes deposited in New-York and Brooklyn twenty millions greater.

Another fact significant of progress in wealth may be here stated. Our list of July disbursements for Dividends amounts today to $48,717,858, with from three to five millions to be added on account of Savings Banks, Fire Insurance Companies and Railway Bonds, whose dividends have not yet been announced. The aggregate is the largest ever yet published. It is creditable to the Administration at Washington that about two and a half millions of these Dividends have been earned in the last six months by the Sinking Fund of the Treasury.

The Dividend payments for July began at the Treasury this morning. The amount of Gold checks given out during the day is $2,407,026. The effect was generally felt on the Foreign Exchanges. Of the $29,000,000 Gold Interest due to the Public in July on the Public Funds of the United States, about $9,000,000 will be collected for Foreign account, and to this large sum to go abroad, or to be reinvested here for Foreign account, may be added about $1,500,000 or $2,000,000 Gold Interest on other American Securities. The State of Indiana pays off $1,000,000 Principal of the old debt of the State; the State of New-York $700,000, and the State of California $182,000. The sales of Gold advanced to 111⅞@111¾ ₱ cent., and Exchange on London to 109½, 60 days, and 110⅞ Short Sight, and quite a spirited demand was experienced for the latter.

The Public Funds and the Railways dragged through the early dealings of the Stock Exchange, but after 1 or 2 o'clock in the Afternoon the temper of speculation was decidedly better, and a general improvement in the quotations was reported on actual sales. The United States 5-20s of 1867 advanced to 113⅜; the 1862s to 111@111½, and the New-York and Western Railways were ½@1, and in some instances 1½ ₱ cent. higher than the cheapest sales of last night and this morning. After the late Board the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday night:

CANADA.

The Dominion Government has laid before the British Columbian delegates the terms upon which that colony will be received into the Confederation. They embrace a guarantee for the Columbian debt, an annual grant of $35,000 for the support of the local Government, steam communication with San Frances fortnightly by two British steamers, the construction of a railroad across the continent at the earliest day practicable. The representation in the Dominion Parliament is fixed at six members of the House of Commons and three Senators. The terms include also the defense of the colony and aid to volunteers, and other matters, with all of which the delegates express satisfaction.

CONGRESS.

The morning hour in the Senate was devoted mainly to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad bill, to which an amendment was agreed to declaring that the land grants shall not apply to lands in the Indian Territory, and requiring full compensation for lands taken from Indians for depots. At 1 P. M. the Senate went into Executive Session on the San Domingo treaty, and the doors were reopened at 1½ P. M., when the Tax and Tariff bill was taken up. The amendment removing duties from tea and coffee was rejected. The vote by which the Senate refused to strike out the House provisions, reducing the duties on sugar, was reconsidered, and the House paragraphs were stricken out. Various other changes were made, in accordance with the recommendations of the Finance Committee, and the paragraph relating to coal was reached. Debate arose, but the Senate, without action, at 5 P. M. adjourned.

In the House, a memorial from New-York against the coolie labor was submitted, a bill granting the right of way through public property at Sackett's Harbor to a railroad company was passed, and various reports were submitted. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Civil Service Appropriation bill. A number of amendments making appropriations to pay various forms of Government indebtedness to individuals, chiefly for Indian contracts and damage by Indian depredations, were agreed to. Among the amendments was one repealing the law requiring the laying up of five of the six revenue cutters on the Northern Lakes was agreed to and the vessels placed at the disposal of the Secretary of the Treasury. The Committee rose, and the bill was reported to the House and passed. The business of the morning hour was not taken up until 3 P. M. This included the bill to prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals in Alaska, which was passed under the operation of the previous question; the bill to regulate the appraisement and inspection of imports in certain cases, and to allow the transportation in bond of certain imported articles, which was also passed. A bill reducing the duty on all kinds of salt fifty per cent. was reported and referred to the Committee of the Whole. The report of the Conference Committee on the Currency bill was taken up, and after some debate the House, without acting on it, adjourned.

GENERAL.

Dr. FOSTER, late of Pine-street, Philadelphia, who disappeared from Yonkers a few weeks ago under circumstances which led to the conclusion that he had met with foul play, is still among the missing. Less anxiety now prevails, however, with regard to his personal safety than was at first manifested. The general impression among those who are most interested in the matter now is that he has departed for parts unknown, deserting his wife for another.

An insurgent leader in Cuba, GONZALEZ JUNCO, who surrendered and was pardoned, has since been tried for acts done during his career as a rebel, and condemned, and was yesterday executed.

The death of Capt. J. D. ROBINSON, of the United States Navy, is announced to have taken place in San Francisco on the 27th inst. Capt. ROBINSON commanded the Pensacola in the engagement in Mobile Bay.

The tug Telegraph came in collision with the steamer Daniel Drew early yesterday morning near Catskill, and sunk almost immediately. Of her crew of ten men four only are known to have been saved, although the supposition is that the others succeeded in getting on the canal-boats in tow of the tug. The boiler of the Telegraph was burst by the collision and the engineer severely scalded. The Drew, it is reported, reversed her engines and endeavored to apprise the tug of her danger, but no notice seems to have been taken of her warnings.

The Democratic State Convention of Maine, at Portland, adjourned after a long debate to meet again at Bangor, Aug. 16. This movement, it is intimated, was taken in the hope of a citizens' ticket, with Gov. CHAMBERLAIN at the head, being nominated.

Another scarcity of the water supply in Philadelphia is apprehended if the dry weather continues.

The Democrats of Pennsylvania yesterday renominated Hon. SAMUEL J. RANDALL for Congress in the First District, and nominated THEODORE CUYLER in the Second, and Dr. MOFFATT in the Third District. The Fourth District Convention adjourned without nominating a candidate.

About noon yesterday, a person entered the office of the Maryland Fire Insurance Company, in Baltimore, and engaged the President of the Company in conversation respecting insurance on a house in Richmond, and while that official went into an inner room to obtain information from the cashier, the stranger, it is believed, carried off a trunk containing $150,000 in Government and other bonds.

In the District Court, in Boston, yesterday, JULIUS F. HARTWELL, who was implicated with MELLEN and WARD in the State-street "irregularities" of two years ago, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Lenox Jail, and to pay a fine of $100,000.

A fire in Providence, R. I., yesterday morning, destroyed a coal elevator, sheds and property belonging to TUCKER, SWAN & CO., E. A. HOPKINS, and the Providence and Worcester Railroad Company. The loss is estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. The coal was burning nearly all day yesterday.

The examinations at the Military Academy, at West Point, were concluded yesterday. Forty-eight out of eighty-six cadets failed to pass and will be sent home. The examination is said to have been the most rigid ever made at the post.

The Virginia Senate has agreed to adjourn July 11 until Oct. 1.

The Executive Committee of the Union League of America held a meeting at the St. Nicholas Hotel, in this City, yesterday afternoon. The session was held with closed doors.

The first annual dinner of the Alumni of Trinity College was given, last evening, at the Astor House, when a large representation was in attendance, and enjoyed a very pleasant entertainment, resolving to repeat it next year.

England's Rule in Ireland.

Mr. GLADSTONE'S Government resorts to singular expedients by way of proving the earnestness of its desire for the pacification of Ireland. The reconciliation of the Irish people to English rule was one of the purposes professed at the formation of the Ministry, whose strength in the House of Commons seemed to be a guarantee for the fulfillment of its pledges. All its performances, however, have been inconsistent and unsatisfactory. Each succeeding attempt to do justice to Ireland has been followed by measures equivalent to a confession that no real progress toward an enduring settlement had been achieved. Coercive measures have cast a shadow over measures avowedly friendly in their nature. The disestablishment of the Protestant Church was attended with the enactment of authority to "proclaim" districts, and to subject newspapers to processes and penalties not known in England since the days of CASTLEREAGH. The discussion of the Land bill in the House of Lords proceeds simultaneously with the passage of a Felony bill through the Commons. An affectation of friendship and a stern exercise of force go on together. The Ministers who set out with a promise to give order and security to Ireland practically confess that they do not understand the causes of her trouble, or that they are unable or unwilling to apply adequate remedies. A Liberal Government, after months of trial, virtually acknowledges that the maintenance of its power in the disaffected isle depends upon the free use of weapons, from which even the despotisms of the present day have instinctively shrunk.

The suppression of Protestant ascendency—for that is what disestablishment logically means—was doubtless the removal of a substantial grievance. But though it went too far to please the Anglican Bishops, it did not go far enough to satisfy the Roman Catholics. The latter insist that the repudiation of Anglican pretensions in ecclesiastical matters should be followed by the restoration to the Roman Catholic Church of edifices and properties of which, in other days, it was despoiled; that the confiscations which were among the earliest evidences of England's supremacy, should now be revoked. At the moment, then, that we were led to look for peace as the consequence of a great stroke of legislation, we actually witnessed unusual outbursts of popular discontent. Violent resistance to law became, in some districts, more frequent than ever, the "Nationalist" Press urging with increased vehemence the futility of all attempts at compromise. Then came the enactment of fresh coercive measures, which stand upon the statute-book a melancholy commentary on Mr. GLADSTONE'S Irish policy.

The pending Land bill promises to be not one whit more effectual. Judged by old-fashioned notions of landlords' rights, some of its provisions are radical enough. It asserts a right of interference which the landowners of England and Scotland cannot view with unconcern. But what to them would savor of agrarianism, only half meets the exigencies of the case in Ireland. The old, undying feeling of the conquered toward the conqueror complicates a question otherwise not difficult of solution. The tillers of Irish soil have no faith in the intentions of their "alien" lord. The sense of a common interest, and the presence of kindly feelings, which make possible harmonious relations between the owners and cultivators of the land in the other parts of the British islands, exist only to a very limited extent in Ireland. The result is, that ere the Land bill becomes law, its failure as a measure of pacification appears to be assured. The Irish journals are analyzing its provisions, and demonstrating their insufficiency as means of averting the cruelty and wrong-doing which have rendered Irish evictions infamous throughout the world. Again, therefore, the spectacle is presented of the passage of a measure purporting to be for the removal of injustice, and designed by its authors as an indication of England's good will, but which is so manifest a failure that a new Felony bill must be contrived to make England's authority secure.

The good intentions of the British Government toward Ireland we cannot doubt. It has dared much and done much to prove the genuineness of its desire to remove chronic evils and mitigate chronic discontent. And yet there is no abatement of the popular aversion to English rule. "Where there is smoke there is fire" is a maxim as applicable to Fenianism today as to Chartism thirty years ago; and it is to confront Fenianism that Felony bills are concocted, and troubled districts "proclaimed." The revival of the repeal movement, which has slumbered since the death of O'CONNELL, is another sign of the popular fever to which Imperial sedatives are in vain applied. More significant still is the recurring expression of a conviction on the part of the men who are neither Fenians nor Repealers, that to Ireland must be conceded control over its own local concerns, leaving the Imperial representation possessed under the act of Union exclusively applicable to Imperial affairs. Whatever shape the final settlement may assume, this now seems certain—there can be no effective legislation for Irish grievances which does not recognize the means by which the Union was consummated as the crowning grievance of all. The organic relations of Great Britain and Ireland need revision and amendment as conditions precedent of peace.

If England will act as frankly and as boldly toward Ireland as Austria has acted toward Hungary, Mr. GLADSTONE will realize the happy results which, under his present policy, remain beyond his reach. The task to which Count BEUST has addressed himself, with no ordinary success, is identical in its nature with that which baffles the British Minister. There may be differences of opinion as to some of the results which have rewarded the exertions of Count BEUST; but there is none in regard to the fact that under his administration the Hungarian difficulty has dwindled down, and that solid progress has been made in the work of organizing and consolidating the Austro-Hungarian empire. That is the lesson which English statesmen may advantageously study. Their greatest hindrance is an unwillingness to measure Irish grievances and Irish discontent by other than English ideas. Let them allow Ireland to be the interpreter of her own wants, and the true union will, for the first time, begin.

Naturalization.

The Senate Naturalization bill, designed as a substitute for the unsatisfactory measure which was passed by the House, will be revived for discussion next Saturday. We have already described the bill, and shown that its sole object is to prevent the outrageous frauds which have heretofore been perpetrated in most of the large cities in the country, but chiefly in the City of New-York. The bill does not propose to extend the period of probation to which applicants for citizenship are subjected, nor is it designed to increase either the expense or the difficulty attending naturalization. It provides that certificates shall be given at the end of four and a half years' residence, instead of five years, as at present, and that the whole business shall be transacted in Federal Courts, which shall also have exclusive jurisdiction of infractions of the law.

The Democratic leaders and journals are stirred to fierce opposition to this innocent measure, and indulge in the wildest misrepresentation with regard to it. Their purpose is to manufacture political capital with the foreign element of our population, by making them believe that the Republican Party is hostile to naturalized citizens. Nothing can be further from the truth, and the more intelligent among our adopted citizens must be fully aware of the deception practiced upon them. Some of the Democratic organs not only misrepresent the plain terms of the proposed bill, but also pervert the opinions expressed by Republican journals on the subject. They even go so far as to declare that the proposed reform is prompted by the old spirit of Know-Nothingism, and is the prelude of a revival of the movement of 1854-5.

Properly considered, the proposed legislation of Congress is in the best interests of the foreign-born population, inasmuch as it is calculated to exalt the standard and value of the franchise, by purifying the method of obtaining it, and by withdrawing it from the contamination and corruption by which unscrupulous politicians have degraded it. The Republican Party has never assailed the principle of conceding citizenship to all comers, subject to existing restrictions. It does not now seek to make those restrictions more stringent, or to throw any new obstacles in the way of naturalization. Is it any evidence of such a disposition to propose that foreigners should receive certificates of citizenship six months sooner than under the present law, and that they shall vote at the expiration of the five years' probation, as now?

It surely cannot be this clause of the proposed law that Democrats object to. Nor ought they to entertain any hostility towards the provisions for preventing frauds. It cannot be said that the law is offensively invidious against naturalized citizens, for equally stringent laws have been enacted to prevent or to punish illegal voting by natural-born citizens. The fact is that the outcry of Democrats against the proposed amendment of the Naturalization laws is practically a confession that they will be chiefly affected by it, and that they do not desire to see the purity of the franchise increased.

The Heat.

The publication in the newspapers of the "casualties" which occur every day in consequence of the heat, is calculated to create some uneasiness in persons of nervous organizations. The "death roll" looks very formidable, and people who allow their minds to brood on any abnormal condition of the weather, are apt to aggravate, by gloomy fears and anticipations, the inconvenience to which they are at present subjected. If they hear that some one has had a sun-stroke, they are almost afraid to put their heads out of doors. If they are told that fever or dysentery is not uncommon, they make up their minds that they will fall early victims to the disorder, and begin to take all sorts of "preventive" medicines—so much rubbish which they might just as well pour into the gutter. Half the cases which doctors are called in to treat at this season of the year, arise from mere nervousness.

Heat such as we have experienced during the last few days is not necessarily injurious to health. The cases of death in the streets which are reported in the newspapers, are to be ascribed to exposure of the very worst kind. The drivers of stages and other vehicles are in the sun so many hours that it would be very singular if some of them did not sustain injury. The homely plan of putting a cabbage-leaf inside their hats would prove a great safeguard to all drivers who are obliged to remain exposed to the sun's rays. The truth, however, is that in the large proportion of serious cases which are reported, the sufferers were persons not fitted to resist the slightest additional strain upon their constitutions. There are many thousands of our fellow-creatures whose vital forces just suffice to keep them alive under favorable conditions. The moment any unusual strain is applied to them, they break down. Cold is quite as fatal as heat. The strong men who are occasionally picked up "exhausted by the heat," as the reporters tell us, are in reality usually exhausted by drink. They may not be intoxicated, but the free use of liquors has overheated their bodies, and rendered them susceptible to the attacks of the sun. The use of alcoholic liquors at this time of the year cannot fail to be extremely injurious in almost every instance.

People who have lived in the tropics know how to guard themselves, at least in a great measure, from heat such as visits us in these latitudes. We do not have days and nights of extreme and unvarying heat for months together, and it ought not to be impossible to support life throughout a few weeks when the thermometer takes excursions into the "nineties." The plan of shutting up every room in the house from sunrise to sunset is alone sufficient to send the thermometer down at least ten degrees. Close every blind and shutter and door in one room, and see whether that room is not considerably cooler in the evening than any other in the house. Again, it is wonderful that the "punkah," suspended from the roof, is not generally used in private houses. It could be made ornamental enough to suit any taste, and could be taken down at any time. As for people who will persist in eating as much animal food at this time of the year as in the Winter, they must expect to suffer. Between mint juleps and meat, it is a wonder that a considerable section of the male population is not swept out of existence during the Summer months.

The Ice Companies.

The persons who control the ice trade of this City—in other words, the Knickerbocker and Washington Ice Companies—are determined to be the most unpopular corporations of the day. In utter disregard, as we are led to believe, of the ordinary principles of fair dealing, they are raising their prices to a figure which will astound the public. It is, of course, nothing to these companies that ice is not a luxury, but a necessity, in a climate like this. They have the monopoly, and care not how much they are the cause of comfort destroyed, health injured, or numberless trades crippled, so that they can pocket their gains. Their pretext of "short supply" is known to be without foundation. The Knickerbocker Company alone has stored not only an ample supply for this year, but sufficient for next year, even if no more were gathered all next Winter. Nor is there any precedent for the price demanded. Last year it was from thirty to fifty cents for the hundred-weight; now it is a dollar, in a day or two it is to be a dollar and a half, and soon after that two dollars, if present expectations are realized. Added to this exorbitant rate, the deliveries are short in weight, and irregular; and the cartmen, too, make their harvest by sharp practice, though on a smaller scale than that resorted to by their principals.

It is to be presumed that the Presidents of the two Companies which form the ice monopoly are insensible to most public considerations. They know that little is to be said in justification of their tactics. While they can freely use extortion, we may be pretty sure they will do so. But is there no way by which their excessive greed can be made to carry with it its own punishment? Such people are to be reached only through their pockets—are their pockets beyond all interference? Is their monopoly so absolute that it cannot be shaken? We should be sorry to think so, especially when we recall several suggestions lately made upon the subject. One plan is to create an opposition, not so much in the hands of dealers as of large consumers. There is nothing, for instance, to prevent the hotel proprietors organizing, and establishing their own storehouse and system of delivery. The mere gathering of the crop is an inexpensive process, and its distribution to the members of a "Hotel-Keepers' Mutual Ice Association" need not be difficult. There is no reason, further, why a similar association should not be formed among ice-cream dealers, or any other class of business people, needing heavy supplies of ice. They can at least begin next Winter, so as to save themselves from over falling under the power of the present monopolists again.

While consumers may protect themselves in this manner, there seems a large and profitable field open to persons who are willing to undertake the manufacture of artificial ice, or supply cheap and simple cooling apparatus for family use. Both schemes are entirely practicable. The glacieres of Paris are a kind of caraffes containing artificial ice, used at table for cooling beverages poured into them. They are extremely popular and inexpensive, and are delivered in the manner of mineral-water syphons here. In large houses it is not uncommon to find a complete freezing apparatus by means of which the wants of the inmates can be supplied. Surely the inventive resources and enterprise of this country should suffice to produce similar or better contrivances. Chemistry teaches by what combinations intense cold can be produced, and the means need not be wanting to render them useful in every household. There is a fortune in store for those who will give us cheap ice during the next four months.

One thing is certain—the present despotism of the ice monopolists cannot be allowed to continue. It is absurd that the whole population should be at the mercy of two companies acting in concert for their own gains, and regardless of all other considerations. We cannot do without ice now, but better provision can be made for the future. The monopoly must be attacked upon its own ground, and science must be appealed to for aid. We sincerely hope that this Summer will be the last in which the ice monopolists are able to extort money under false pretenses.

Opening of the Baths.

The new baths have now, in addition to a local habitation and a name, received a code of laws and a Superintendent, and their internal arrangements having been completed, a heat-oppressed community will be invited to-morrow morning to take the first plunge into their cooling depths. Weeks ago an eager crowd of men and boys was collected by a premature rumor that a bath would be thrown open, and it was with great difficulty convinced of its mistake. And now, when in the parched recesses of tenement-houses and the stifling atmosphere of crowded lanes, humanity, without distinction of age or sex, longs for the cool breeze that never comes, the opening of our newest public institution is celebrated at a most appropriate moment. A few weeks hence and the enjoyment of a bath will have become to many a thing of course or of indispensable necessity, and the Commissioner of Public Works will be praised in a similar manner to the engineer of the English military roads, of whom an enthusiastic Irishman said: "If you had but seen the roads before they were made, you would have lifted up your hands and blessed Gen. WADE."

The two baths which will be placed at the service of the people to-morrow are but the first installment of a complete system of baths, which it is hoped may be worthy of our City, and equal to the necessities of our population. Proud as we are of our modern civilization, we are compelled to acknowledge that they managed these things better 1,600 years ago. The provincial Roman town of Pompeii had, for a population about one-twentieth part the number of ours, public baths that covered ten thousand square feet. At Rome itself the baths of Caracalla were 1,500 feet long by 1,250 feet broad, containing gymnasia, libraries, and galleries of sculpture and painting. It has been calculated that in the swimming-bath of Diocletian 18,000 persons could bathe at the same time. It may not be necessary to aim at the Roman perfection of luxury in these establishments. It will be sufficient if our long-delayed efforts should be productive of an increased public taste for bathing, and a higher standard of personal attention to health and cleanliness. In that case, we shall not be anxious to see 18,000 persons in the water at the same time.

Pistol Practice by the Police.

We have already had occasion to commend Superintendent JOURDAN for the intelligence and energy he displays in the performance of his duties. The last order issued by him is another proof of his competency. It directs patrolmen to report such defects in the roadway as tend to injure horses and vehicles, or to collect water in standing pools; all wagons habitually left standing in front of premises not occupied by their owners, and, finally, all nuisances and obstructions in the streets, and injuries to gas and water pipes, sewers and other City property. This order, if enforced, it will readily be seen, must do a vast amount of good. If it only results in relieving some of our crowded thoroughfares from the barricades of boxes and peddlers' carts which have so long been permitted to choke them, it will prove a most welcome boon to the public.

We trust, however, that the Superintendent will not pause here in his effort to improve the efficiency of the force. It might be made useful to begin by giving them lessons in pistol shooting. If it is part of a patrolman's duty to shoot all unruly dogs on his beat, it is just as well that he should be able to achieve that object without maiming all the bipeds in the neighborhood. Otherwise, if Officer WOOD, who on Monday made Officer OSTROM the target and victim of his awkwardness, is to be allowed to shoot policemen indiscriminately, he may soon acquire a reputation as man-shooter which we do not suppose that he covets. Officer WOOD'S pistol practice ought to be suspended until he has attained some degree of proficiency in the shooting-gallery. A course of lessons to the marksmen of the force will diminish the dangers of the streets, and promote the efficiency of the Police force.

We are not alone in complaining of heat and drouth. All over Europe the Summer thus far has been characterized by great heat and little, if any, rain. In England, just before the departure of the last mail, wheat had advanced 5s. a quarter—which would have reduced the supply of bread in tens of thousands of poor families. The first hay crop was entirely lost. In the opinion of eminent astronomers and physicists, the very high temperature which has latterly prevailed is to be ascribed to the fact that we are now in what is called the "sun-spot period." Prof. SMYTH, the Astronomer Royal for Scotland, says that last Winter was the "first of a cold cycle, of which next Winter, and probably that of 1871-2, will be exceedingly severe." He is of opinion, as we read in the Athenæum of June 18, that "the actual occasion of the waves of terrestrial temperature is to be found among the red prominences of the sun." There can be little doubt that the theories to which we lately adverted in this journal, in reference to the sun-spots, will be found to afford explanations of many problems which have heretofore baffled human ingenuity. In a paper read recently before the Royal Society by that excellent observer, Mr. J. NORMAN LOCKYER, it was stated that we are now nearing the maximum period of sun-spots. He had made some most important observations, and seems to have been startled at many of the phenomena he witnessed.

In its action, yesterday, on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad bill, the Senate showed a determination to sustain an honorable and upright course on the Indian question. The integrity of the land titles given to the tribes was guaranteed by a vote of 26 to 20, on a resolution providing "that neither the original nor the present land grants should apply to lands in the Indian Territory," and requiring that due compensation be made for any such lands it might be found necessary to acquire. Straightforward dealing like this is what the Indians have long and strenuously insisted on, and a consistent adherence to it can scarcely fail to be productive of the happiest results.

The persistency of the anti-vaccination movement in England would appear to indicate that it owes its existence to something more than popular prejudice. Between the remark of CUVIER, "If vaccination were the only discovery of the epoch, it would serve to render it illustrious forever," and the epitaph which an English tradesman wished to inscribe on his son's gravestone, "Died from the effects of vaccination," there is indeed a wide gulf of sentiment in relation to JENNER'S great discovery. But it seems probable that the wholesale fashion of distributing vaccine which obtains in England, has led to great carelessness in the transmission of the matter, and that taints of inherited disease may have thus been carried from one child to another. Though the possibility of this has been authoritatively questioned, yet scientific testimony is not wanting in support of it, and the action of the meeting of which mention is made by cable was doubtless based on some such cases.

The course of the Senate in postponing action on the San Domingo treaty, yesterday, was fully warranted by circumstances. The unscrupulous and exceedingly unfair attempt to implicate the President by the publication of the confidential basis of negotiation seems to have failed of its intended effect, and must react upon the enemies of the Administration by whom it was concocted. The letter of President GRANT, given in our Washington dispatch, is a manly and effective reply to the insinuations which had been made, and ought to strengthen the treaty with the Senate, rather than otherwise. At all events it was wise to postpone further consideration of it until the Senators have had an opportunity for full and deliberate examination of the subject under its new aspects.

It was high time that some improvement was effected in the immediate neighborhood of the City Hall. In the condition of our municipal Park, as in the condition of our wharves, we have enjoyed the unique distinction of exhibiting a degree of dirtiness perfectly without parallel in any city familiar to civilization. The plans on which the improvement of the City Hall Park are being conducted will rescue it from being the embodiment of everything that is undesirable in a place of public resort.

The Star, of this City, which generally represents the working men's side of public questions, is evidently adverse to the introduction of Chinese laborers into the home market. "Are the working men," it asks, "to be blamed if they indignantly protest against the introduction of slave labor among them?" The objections of the Star appear to be founded on the supposition that the Chinese will undersell competitors, and so reduce the price of labor,—so that the question of slavery may safely be set aside. What the Star does not tell us is how the introduction of Chinese, or any other people, into a free country can be prevented? We should have been all the more glad to have heard the opinions of our contemporary on this point, since it especially deprecates violence on the part of those who are opposed to Chinese labor.

The indications of stimulated action on the part of the Senate are highly satisfactory, especially should they afford an earnest that its work will be completed by the 15th of July. We should suppose that the fierce heat which prevails at Washington would effectually check the ardor of speech-makers, even in that verbose body. The prospect is tolerably fair that the House will get through its business by the designated time; and there is but little probability that it will be induced to extend the session to meet the fancied requirements of the Senate.

According to Mr. SCHENCK, of Ohio, the works of sculpture which we possess are very defective. He considers Mr. BROWN, of Newburg, N. Y., to be the one man who can present a proper model of a man on horseback. Mr. BROWN'S statue of WASHINGTON in our own Union-square, is, according to Mr. SCHENCK, the only respectable representation of the kind to be found in this country. Let us hope that Mr. BROWN may be equally, or even more, successful in applying the $35,000 set aside for the equestrian statue to be erected in the Capital to Gen. SCOTT, and that the "operation of storms of wind upon the mane and tail" of the quadruped, which Mr. SCHENCK so severely reprobates, may be counteracted.

Our Panama correspondence seems to leave no doubt that the San Blas route for the Darien Canal will be finally reported on as impracticable. A glance at the map will show that both this and the Caledonia route present obvious advantages in the shape of shortness of distance and natural indentation of the coast line. The central mountain ridge is still the main obstacle to the scheme, but it is not too much to hope that further surveys may reveal some practicable way of surmounting this natural barrier. The route between Aspinwall and Panama indicated by our correspondent would take the canal in the same line as the railroad. The Company owning the line commands, we believe, a considerable extent of the land on either side. From the tenor of the negotiations already entered on with the United States of Colombia, the railroad directors could scarcely be more difficult to treat with than the existing Government of that Republic.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

The Insurgents Near Colon—Security of the Position—Repulse of a Spanish Force—Tribulations of the Masons—Capture of the Upton's Cargo—Results of the Seizure—Spanish Warfare.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Wednesday, June 22, 1870.

A movement on a large scale to drive the army of JESUS DEL SOL from the camping grounds it now holds between Colon, Maragua and Palmillas is now in progress. The different Cuban bands under DEL SOL'S command number about 1,400 men, of whom about seven hundred are armed with muskets and rifles and the rest with machetas and knives. The Spaniards opposing this force are composed principally of volunteers, among them the Chapelgoris of Colon and Guamutas, and three companies of regulars. This force has been divided into seven columns, one of which has already met the enemy and was worsted near Palmillas. Although such large numbers of men are engaged on both sides, it is extremely doubtful whether any engagement of importance will take place. The state of the roads and the cunning of DEL SOL are strong opposers, especially as DEL SOL can at any moment retire to the Cienaga de Cochinas, where he can live in peace and quietness, and where ten thousand troops could not molest him at this season of the year. It is of great importance to the planters to have the insurgents disappear from the richest region of the sugar districts.

THE MASONS.

These unfortunate men have at last obtained a little grace and justice. Telegrams were sent to Spain and to the Captain-General at Puerto Principe, and all Consuls, excepting that of Hayti, Holland and the United States, used their utmost efforts to have the Masons liberated. With the exception of three or four, among whom are the Master and Secretary of the lodge, all are released today on bail. This does not finish the case or place them at absolute liberty, but at any rate it enables these poor prisoners, guilty of no crime, except of having met secretly. The nineteenth century has yet to penetrate a little more into Cuba, but the Masons ought also to have known that they are not privileged to violate the laws of the country, whether such laws be just or not. The treatment of all the prisoners, has been extremely kind and good, and in that respect none complain. It is generally surmised that when the Court-martial finds, the Captain-General will pardon all.

THE CARGO OF THE GEORGE B. UPTON.

The steamer George B. Upton, which landed part of her cargo at Punta Brava on the 24th of last month, discharged the rest on the 12th inst., at a place called La Herradura, between Gibarra and Puerto del Padre, bringing Col. LONO and twenty-one men from Aspinwall. While endeavoring to conduct the arms and ammunition to the interior, they were overtaken and attacked by the volunteers of Maniabon, and after a short engagement, during which the expeditionists had six men killed, they were compelled to abandon their convoy and to seek a refuge in the Sierra de Chiaparra, where they were actively pursued by the entire force of the neighborhood. The Maniabon volunteers who captured the cargo of the Upton at la Herradura, are said to be mostly Cubans, devoted to the cause of Spain.

CAPTURED CORRESPONDENCE.

Among the documents taken at the same time were the following letters—one from I. CISNEROS to President CESPEDES, and the other from M. ALDAMA to Col. LONO at Aspinwall:

To Carlos M. Cespedes, President of the Cuban Republic:

According to what I announced in my last letter, after landing the first expedition at Punta Brava, I now come with another one, composed of Col. MANUANO LONO and the following citizens: [Here follows a list of twenty-one names.] I enclose list of arms and ammunition composing this expedition, which are: First, those sent to Col. LONO by the Cuban Junta of New-York; second, those that failed to be landed at Punta Brava, and third, those that were purchased at Aspinwall by the Agent of the Junta. I should be pleased if I could reach our landing place and receive your correspondence for New-York during the night, as it would prove dangerous to remain here any longer, and only God knows when I shall be able to return. With the most distinguished consideration I remain, &c.

(Signed,) F. JAVIER CISNEROS.

The second letter is from the Cuban Junta in New-York, and is dated May 19:

To Col. Mariano Lono, Aspinwall:

DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN: I inclose within the invoice of the several articles the steamer George B. Upton takes to you. Owing to circumstances, that will be explained to you by Mr. CISNEROS, and which were not in our power to remedy, the arms which are at Nassau cannot go with the balance. The Junta are sorry to learn that you have not followed the instructions given to you regarding the good harmony which ought to have reigned between yourself and our Panama agent during your absence. We consider it convenient to act with the greatest prudence in this delicate affair, as the least inattention of our's could easily be taken advantage of by our enemies and make us lose the immense benefits that the offers us. T. J. CISNEROS will inform you of all that Gen. JORDAN manifests respecting landing in Cuba and the ports he considers most convenient. Yours, &c.,

MIGUEL ALDAMA, President.

THE HERRADURA CAPTURES.

The following is the list of the articles captured at La Herradura by the Spanish volunteers:

Four pieces canvas, 85 Remington's rifles, 197 Sharp's rifles, 90 other makers' rifles, 1,196 English rifles, 241 cans (25 pounds) gunpowder, 3 pick-axes, 1 printing press, 1 grape-shot machine, 1 extra barrel, 1 bullet-mold, 9 boxes surgical instruments, 291½ boxes ammunition with 1,008 caps, 3 sacks soldiers' cyphons, 4 iron caldrons, 6 kettles, 1 pan, 1 movable forge, 8 torpedoes, 2 sacks of salt, 2 boxes cap-cartridge boxes, 2 boxes printing material, 111 bags leather straps, 1 box cooking utensils, 6 saddles, 200,000 caps, 1 bale printing paper, 2 boxes medicines, 1 barrel salted meat, 6 boxes writing paper and envelopes, 1 box soap, 84 kegs gunpowder, 2 boxes swords, 1 sack ground coffee, 2 bales clothing, 5 shovels.

SPANISH HUMANITY EXEMPLIFIED.

The Cuban leaders, PERALTA, OCHOA, VILLAREAL and FONSECA, are reported to be with their parties, near Santa Cruz. From Spanish sources we learn that a column of two hundred men, commanded by Col. MESTRE, has captured the "Pinalitos," where MARMOL had his camp. All it contained, including several well-furnished buildings, a gun manufactory and powder-mill, were destroyed by fire. MARMOL himself is reported wounded in the head. Fourteen prisoners were shot immediately after the action, and seven more, with their leader, CARLOS DELGADO, were taken to Mayari, at which place they were executed on the spot where they were accused of having murdered nine Spaniards a year ago. Thirteen Cubans who were captured near the San Lorenzo River were executed on the spot by the Ayaral volunteers.

MODESTO DIAZ.

Owing to the rainy season and bad state of the roads, it was necessary to suspend the operations against MODESTO DIAZ. That leader is still in the swamps of "Rio Buey," where the Spanish troops cannot reach him, and he awaits himself of every opportunity to make small raids from the secure hiding place he has selected.

MORE EXECUTIONS.

Some time last year, two men named CHARIANO and SANCHA left Cienfuegos, and it is not positively known whether they gained the insurgents or not. It was known, however, that they lived in the woods and came to town frequently to visit their families, it being suspected that they brought and carried correspondence. A watch was set, and both were captured at their houses last week. A Court-martial was held, and they

The Day a General Holiday no Longer—The Exercises in the Church—The Alumni Dinners—Elections of Overseers—Honors—The Exercises of Today.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BOSTON, Tuesday, June 28, 1870.

Commencement Day is no longer the great public holiday that it once was—that it was within a very few years even, and a good many of the older graduates of the College sincerely mourn over the departed glories of their favorite anniversary. But this result has long been foreshadowed. Year by year it has been more and more evident that the business of a great City could not be interrupted for twenty-four hours because a crowd of scholars in a college-yard three miles away, were conferring and receiving degrees, making speeches, singing songs, shaking hands and drinking punch. The first public recognition of this fact, however, was made this year by Collector RUSSELL, who ordered the Custom-house to remain open today, as usual; and though the Sub-treasury, the banks, and the insurance offices followed the old precedent and shut their doors, another year will doubtless see nearly all the offices on State-street as busy on Commencement Day as on any day in the calendar.

The day has been one of the hottest of the season, and even at 9 o'clock, when the Governor and his aids, the Lieutenant-Governor and several members of the Executive Council and other State officials started in open barouches, with a guard of eighty mounted Lancers, for the Cambridge Colleges, the heat was intense. The procession reached the University at a little before 10 o'clock. The carriages were drawn up to Gore Hall, where their distinguished occupants were received by President ELIOT and the members of the faculty. Mr. JOHN LANGDON SIBLEY, the College Librarian, called off the order of the procession, and the line was formed in front of the library, and moved in the following order, past University Hall, Thayer, Holworthy, Stoughton, Hollis and Harvard to the church:

THE ALUMNI DINNER.

The annual dinner of the Alumni Association was served in Harvard Hall and the dining-room of the Thayer Club. The dinner was announced to take place at 1 o'clock, but it was after 2 o'clock before the procession was formed, and after 3 o'clock before the gustatory exercises began. Howard Hall was set for 580 guests, and the Thayer Club tables contained 250 plates. Every seat was filled, and the number of classes represented was between fifty and sixty. The Harvard Hall dinner opened with prayer by Rev. J. H. MORRISON, of Milton, and after the dessert WM. GRAY, Esq., the President of the Association, addressed the Alumni in a speech of considerable length. He was followed by President CHAS. W. ELIOT, who was received with applause and cheers. Hh spoke of the increased prosperity of the University, of the growing interest of the Alumni and College affairs, of the munificent gift of NATHANIEL THAYER, and the fact that more money had been given in the past ten years than in the first 175 years of the history of the College. In closing, he stated that it was the intention of the corporation to make this a university in the fullest sense of the word. Lieut.-Gov. TUCKER, in the absence of Gov. CLAFLIN, was introduced by Mr. GRAY, and spoke briefly in behalf of the State. Ex-President WALKER next addressed the Bibentes Sodales, and his eloquent and feeling remarks were followed by the singing of "Ad Almem Matrem" by a choir of recent graduates, under the direction of Dr. J. R. PAINE, and Mr. GRAY then called upon Ex-Attorney-General HOAR to open his case and examine his witnesses, and the pleasantry of the introduction was well sustained by the remarks which succeeded it. He introduced General Governor Secretary COX in a very complimentary manner, but the speech of the Secretary of the Interior was not particularmy entertaining. Prof. E. J. CUTLER read a poem written for the occasion, and Dr. F. H. HEDGE made some congratulatory remarks concerning the prosperity of the College and other kindred topics, and several other gentlemen contributed to the intellectual enjoyment of the occasion.

The dinner in the Thayer Club-rooms was of a different character, the guests being nearly all recent graduates. THEODORE LYMAN, of the class of '55, presided, and at the conclusion of the repast called upon numerous gentlemen for songs and brief remarks. There were no long speeches, and the affair was informal and highly enjoyable.

CLASS PUNCHES.

This is perhaps the proper place to speak of the class punches. Nearly every class represented occupied some room in the College buildings, where a liquid lunch was served throughout the entire day. The Class of '66 is generally credited with the best punch, but none were allowed to waste their sweetness or strength.

VOTING FOR OVERSEERS.

The polls were opened at Massachusetts Hall for ballots of the Alumni for the election of five overseers for the term of six years. The following gentlemen, being double the number of vacancies to be filled, were nominated as candidates:

James Walker, Henry W. Paine, Martin Brimmer, Phillips Brooks, John C. Ropes, Benjamin S. Rotch, George S. Hillard, Franklin B. Sanborn, George O. Shattuck, Morrill Wyman.

Up to 1 o'clock the voting was slow and light, and nothing was known as to the result. The polls were closed at 4 o'clock, and the result was announced shortly after, in Harvard Hall. The following gentlemen were elected to serve six years: Jas. Walker, S. W. Paine, Martin Brimmer, Phillips Brooks, John C. Ropes.

The Hare system of voting was employed, and it seems to have been satisfactory.

HONORS.

The following graduates were nominated for the honors in the several branches as designated:

In Linguis Antiquis.—BROWN, Emott, Spackman, Wharton, White.
In Historia.—B. Adams, G. H. Adams, Greene, Soley, Worcester.
In Philosophia.—Fuller, Hale, Walcott.
In Historia Oeconomiaque Politica.—Fuller.
In Chemia.—G. B. Smith, Wadsworth, Watson.
In Linguis Recentioribus.—Francis, Merrick, Galloway, Sheldon.
In Philosophia.—Joseph Bangs Warner, A. B.; Francis Greenwood Peabody, A. B.

The meeting of the Board of Overseers was a short one. It was voted to confer the degree of Doctor of Medicine upon a number of gentlemen, and the usual degrees in and out of course, as well as the following honorary degrees, were then conferred:

Doctor of Laws, WILLIAM MAXWELL EVERETTS, of New-York City; LEONARD BACON, of New-Haven. Master of Arts, FRANCIS HUMPHREYS STORRS, of Boston; WILLIAM COE COLLAR, of Boston Highlands.

THE PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

President ELIOT held a reception in the evening at his residence on Quincy-street. Nearly all of the distinguished gentlemen present at the dinner were in attendance, and the affair was exceedingly social and agreeable.

THE NECROLOGY.

During the past year, the number of graduates who have died is fifty, and among the list are Rev. N. L. FROTHINGHAM, the class-mate and friend of EDWARD EVERETT, and father of Rev. O. B. FROTHINGHAM and Miss ELLEN FROTHINGHAM, the translator of GOETHE; THOMAS SHERWIN, for many years the head-master of the English High School, in Boston; O. S. LELAND, a brother of CHESTER G. LELAND, and a writer for the stage; R. G. PARKER, the author of several well-known text-books for schools; CHARLES RUSSELL LOWELL, once the librarian of the Athenæum; JEROME NAPOLEON BONAPARTE, whose history is well known; WILLIAM BRIGHAM, an eminent lawyer and historical student and writer, as well as several younger men, not widely known, but of great promise.

EXERCISES TO-MORROW.

The speaking for the Boylston prizes will take place to-morrow forenoon in Harvard Hall. The speakers do not rehearse their own compositions, but select pieces in prose or verse from English, Latin or Greek authors. The competitors must be members of the three upper classes. The two first prizes are $25 in money, and the three second prizes are $20 in money.... The annual meeting and dinner of the Phi Beta Kappa Society will be held in University Hall at 9 A. M. to-morrow. The oration will be delivered by OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, and the poem by Rev. W. R. HUNTINGTON, of Worcester.

Presentation Week—The Rocky Mountain Expedition—Boat Racing—Wooden Spoon.

From Our Special Correspondent.

NEW-HAVEN, Tuesday, June 28, 1870.

Presentation week, so called from the fact that Presentation Day comes at this time, is for young people what Commencement week is for the old. In fact, it is the season when the face of the college world relaxes into smiles, as during the Commencement season it assumes its gravest and most dignified appearance.

Yesterday afternoon the speaking for the Deforest gold medal, of the value of $100, took place in the college chapel. The contestants were the six gentlemen who had received the Townsend premiums for excellence in writing. After the Faculty had duly deliberated on the merits of the different pieces, Prof. CYRUS NORTHROP announced that Mr. THOMAS J. TILNEY, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had taken the medal, the highest literary honor it is in the power of the College to bestow; but the Faculty also desired that honorable mention should be made of an essay by Mr. GEORGE CHASE. Mr. TILNEY'S piece was an elaborated analysis of the prominent characteristics of the lamented President LINCOLN, and was, in parts, exceedingly eloquent.

Last night the promenade concert was given by the Spoon Committee of the Junior Class, at Music Hall. The members of the Committee are Messrs. Lea, Wales, Smith, Collin, Beebe, Walker, Archbald, Starling, and Ford. Grafulla's Band, from New-York, furnished most excellent music.

The second day of Presentation week dawned bright and fair. As though determined to make up for the respite he had given us, old Phœbus drove his chariot a trifle nearer to the globe, and the full benefit of his change of course was felt, if not appreciated, in this beautiful City of Elms. Still the stranger visitors came journeying into the city. So many new faces have seldom before graced the exercises of the week. The promenade concert last night was an exceedingly brilliant and enjoyable affair, reflecting credit on the members of the Spoon Committee having charge of the matter. The galleries were filled with those who preferred the rôle of spectator to that of actor in the gay scenes going on below. Whirling in waltzes, or grandly and with measured steps through the figures of the quadrille, the night passed by, and it was not until the early hours of the morning that the wearied dancers sought their homes. The speaking for the Deforest gold medal took place in the afternoon at the College chapel. The fortunate gentleman adjudged by the Faculty to be the "best writer and speaker in his class" is Mr. THOMAS J. TILNEY, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who delivered a thoughtful essay on "Abraham Lincoln," although from the nature of his subject the piece lacked the originality which characterized the productions of some of the contestants. Messrs. GULLIVER, MASON, ANDREWS, CHASE and SHEPARD were the other speakers.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN EXPEDITION.

A scientific expedition under the command of Prof. O. C. MARSH, of Yale College, composed of students and recent graduates of that Institution, will start for the far West on Thursday of the present week. It is intended to spend several months in the Rocky Mountain region, investigating some of its many obscure and interesting geological features, and collecting largely for the Yale Museum the extinct animal remains, which abound there in some of the tertiary and cretaceous deposits, especially in Nebraska, Dakota and Wyoming. The party will then proceed to California and visit some of the principal geological localities on the Pacific Coast, after which they will return through Colorado and Kansas, reaching New-Haven again probably in November.

Prof. MARSH is thoroughly acquainted with the localities he will visit, and, with the facilities at his command, some interesting and valuable information may be expected from the expedition, in regard to the animals of the prehistoric time. The following gentlemen comprise the party:

Director—O. C. MARSH, Professor of Palæontology in Yale College.

ASSISTANTS AND VOLUNTEERS.

Eli Whitney, Jr., New-Haven; George B. Grinnell, New-York; J. R. Nicholson, Dover, Del.; J. W. Griswold, Troy, N. Y.; J. M. Russell, Paris, Ky.; C. Wilbya Betts, New-York; J. M. Wadsworth, Geneseo, N. Y.; H. B. Sargent, New-Haven; A. H. Ewing, Chicago, Ill.; C. M. Reeve, Danville, N. Y.; H. D. Zeigler, Philadelphia; C. F. Ballard, Louisville, Ky.

Should it appear that the Indians are likely to take a sudden fancy to tall men's scalps, the proposed route may have to be shortened somewhat.

THE BOAT-RACES.

The boat-races between the different college crews took place at Lake Saltonstall this afternoon. The lake is pleasantly situated about five miles from the city, and surrounded by gentle wooded slopes, affording a good view of the course. A long train of twenty cars conveyed thither a portion of the crowd, while hundreds of carriages of every conceivable shape and pattern crowded their way toward the lake, bearing their precious burdens. The following was the afternoon's programme:

FIRST RACE—Single sculls, distance, two miles. G. E. Dodge, Lady Alice, white handkerchief; C. W. Gould, Grace, yellow handkerchief; W. H. Lee, The Nameless, orange handkerchief; E. T. Owen, Nellie, magenta handkerchief; T. G. Peck, Louise, blue handkerchief.

SECOND RACE.—Shells, distance three miles.—First prize, $75 and the Phelps' Champion Flag; second prize, $25. University Crew.—Colors, blue handkerchiefs—D. McC. Bone, (bow,) C. S. Hemingway, F. G. B. Swayne, E. D. Coonley, L. G. Parsons, F. F. Carpenter, (stroke.) Beaconfield Crew.—Colors, orange handkerchiefs—J. T. Whittlesey, (bow,) J. W. Griswold, R. Colgate, H. H. Buck, R. W. Davenport, T. G. Bennett, (stroke.) '73 Crew.—L. E. Curtis, (bow,) E. H. Hubbard, W. H. Bradley, D. J. H. Willcox, L. S. Boomer, E. H. Jenkins, (stroke.) '73 Crew.—Colors, white handkerchiefs—S. L. Boyce, (bow,) F. W. Adee, J. Day, G. M. Browne, W. F. McCook, W. W. Figg, (stroke.)

The first race, for the superb Southworth Cup, valued at $300, was won by Mr. OWEN, who who made the two miles in 14 minutes 11½ seconds; Mr. DODGE, son of Wm. E. DODGE, did it 14 minutes 35½ seconds; Mr. LEE in 14 minutes 57 1-10 seconds; Mr. GOULD in 15 minutes 8 seconds; Mr. PECK in 15 minutes 19¼ seconds. Lee claims, however, that he was fouled by Owen, which claim, if allowed by the Umpire, Mr. MITCHELL, may change the final award. The charge is to be heard to-night or to-morrow morning.

In the second race the Scientific crew came in first, making the distance (three miles and 600 feet over) in 19 minutes 36½ seconds: Freshmen next, 20 minutes 1-10 seconds; University, 20 minutes 14¼ seconds; Sophomore crew, 20 minutes 19¼ seconds. Fifteen seconds handicap was given by the University and Scientific crews. The result has somewhat discouraged the friends of the University crew, but it should be remembered that one of their crew and their stroke was absent. Their steering was remarkably bad and they do not row steadily in their boat. However, there is good material in the crew, which only needs to be properly developed.

THE WOODEN SPOON.

Last night was celebrated the festival of the Wooden Spoon, when the most popular member of the Senior Class receives from his classmates the "Glorious Wooden Spoon." Exactly why this particular implement, inseparably connected with the transition state between babyhood and childhood, was selected as an emblem of popularity, history telleth not. Perhaps the fact that it was originally given to the poorest scholar in the class may partially explain the mystery. The festival has long been a Yale "specialty," though imitations of it have been attempted in other colleges.

Music Hall was literally packed with anxious, eager, sweltering spectators. There they sat and melted, while fans innumerable kept in ceaseless motion, only added to the universal perspiration. Every year a similar crowd fills every nook and corner of the Hall, and goes through the same operation of pushing in, discussing and "cussing" the weather, and in a moderate degree attending to the scenes enacted before them.

The programme embraced speeches, music and dramas, illustrative of scenes in college life. The opening load was entitled "Cochlea," introducing to the audience the spoonman, Mr. LEA, enveloped in his shell. Then music by GRAFULLA'S band. Presentation of the spoon by Mr. FORD; reception speech by Mr. LEA. Wooden-spoon song, exceedingly well sung by the Junior Double Quardette. Mock Latin Salutatory by R. W. ARCHBALD. College drama, written by Mr. SPERRY, entitled "Who's, Who?" Younger members of the Faculty A parody-tragedy, written by H. R. ELLIOT, "The Return of Ulysses." The acting was very good, Mr. STARLING'S especially so. The female characters being also noticeably well carried out. Messrs. Lea, Collin, Wales, Starling, Ford, Archibald, Beebe, Walker and Smith constitute this year's Cochlaureati. At the close of the evening's entertainment, the elect were duly initiated into the mysteries of the Senior Societies, with the usual allowance of unearthly noises and ceremonies mysterious and direful.

PRINCETON.

Address by Hon. George M. Robeson Before the Literary Societies—The Alumni Meeting—Decennial Meeting of the Class of 1860—Presentations and Speech of Dr. McCosh.

The most interesting features of Commencement week at Princeton College were the exercises of yesterday, the address of Hon. GEORGE M. ROBESON, Secretary of the Navy, a member of the class of 1847, the meeting of the Alumni Association and the decennial meeting of the class of 1860, seeming to attract to the quiet village of Princeton an extraordinary influx of the friends of the College. Besides these more solid attractions the students had a baseball match in the afternoon with Philadelphia's most famous club, an exhibition of gymnastics at the new gymnasium in the morning, and presentations and orations by the Junior Class, which were attended with considerable interest.

The new gymnasium, built by the liberality of Mr. ROBERT BONNER and others, was packed at 9 o'clock with spectators. When, at the commencement of their exercises, the benefactor of the institution, Mr. BONNER, appeared on the stage, the band struck up "Hail to the Chief," which was received with loud applause. The performances of the gymnasts were highly creditable.

From the College chapel a procession marched to the First Presbyterian Church, which adjoins the College grounds. Upon the arrival of the students a large number of the clergy and eminent citizens took seats upon the elevated platform in the rear portion of the building. Among them were Hon. Fred. T. Frelinghuysen, Ex-United States Senator; Hon. Joseph P. Bradley, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court; Ex-Govs. Olden and Newell. Hon. Wm. L. Dayton and Mr. Sandford Robeson, who was announced to deliver the address before the literary societies of the College. Without ceremony Rev. Dr. MCCOSH, the President of the College, introduced Mr. ROBESON as one among the foremost of the distinguished statesmen which old Nassau numbered among its children. Mr. ROBESON, who was loudly cheered, said:

Coming, as I do, from the very midst of the absorbing cares of active official duty, and from scenes where life is far fuller of the excitements of decision and action than of thought, I am content to speak to you on topics rather practical than scholastic, and in a manner which will perhaps partake rather of the form of the forum than that of the closet. And, in this sense, "The responsibility in this country of institutions of learning," including not only the organization itself, but the students and Alumni as well. The idea of responsibility carries with it to the mind the three-fold conditions of power, opportunity, and duty. These Mr. ROBESON discussed in connection with the governmental rather than personal and moral relations. Referring to the distinguished President of the College, Mr. ROBESON said: The place of WITHERSPOON today is filled by his countryman, who, standing a century forward in the cycles of time, with a longer experience behind, and a wider horizon before him, has applied to the larger field of collegiate influence, which our times present, the same principles of truth and true religion illustrating at once their reality and efficacy for all time and for every condition of humanity. And the influence of another name from the land of the Bible and the mountain is matched in the love which we cherish for him who now bears it, whose simple and gentle kindness has filled the heart of more than one generation, which change cannot diminish nor time obliterate. [This touching allusion to Rev. Dr. MACLEAN, the venerable Ex-President of the College, was received with kind and heartfelt applause.] Gentlemen, the minds which you instruct and the hearts which you impress today, to-morrow will carry that knowledge and those impressions into the government of the dominant nation of the western hemisphere. The leadership of nations brings with it corresponding danger. The concentrated energy of a great community is an engine powerful sometimes for evil as well as for good, for the swaying of the tempest is mightier for the mightier forces which are behind it. The history of the world shows—nay, here our own experience teaches us—that when men are influenced and acted upon by others, reason is often lost in passion. This truth he illustrated by allusion to an interesting incident which he had witnessed, showing the danger of excited masses moving under influences of evil. Our American Government and civilization through educational means, rests all its hopes in the right development of the popular mind, and trusts itself without reserve to the American people. To the graduating class the speaker said: You, gentlemen, who will leave to-morrow the field of instruction for the field of thought and action, may turn your back upon your Alma Mater to find that you are facing the world alone, for upan none but yourselves will depend your future. The old College must throw you off in turn, as the mother eagle, soaring from her eyrie, shakes in mid-air her frightened fledglings from her back, to try for themselves their new-grown pinions, in their upward flight to dare alone the splendor and danger of the sky. I come not to set before you here the goals of intellectual success. These are, I doubt not, already fixed with the confidence and ambition of imaginary youth. But, be assured that the highest success can be secured only by him who realizes to its fullest extent the reality and the dignity of the human destiny—by him who recognizes the principle of life which giveth him vitality, activity, a higher than earthly origin—who feels and accepts it as an inspiration in the accomplishment of a purpose conceived in infinite wisdom. There is no success without the performance of duty, and you are not to expect success except by earnest and persistent labor. Congratulate yourselves, therefore, that you are members of a nation which contributed to civilization and progress the idea of labor dignified by association with power, and ennobled by the willing industry of free men. Be not content to linger and be lost in the common throng, but aspire to the rank of true nobility. To do good is noble. No power can efface it, no circumstance impeach, no time can dim the luster of its glory. Its realm cannot be held within conventional boundaries. Its throne is erected within the great metropolis of the human heart. Be true through life to the teachings which you have here received, and your influence will be felt for the welfare of the country, and will redound to the glory of your Alma Mater. Companions of a chapter like this, you will go forth with the weapons and insignia of leadership. Remember that when the earth gaped in the forum, it was not fruits nor wine, not gold nor precious stones, nor offering of the forest or the field; not slave nor freedman, not child or wife that could avert the threatening danger; but the Roman citizen, himself patrician, soldier, knight, armed with weapons and clad with the regalia of the highest type of citizen soldier and leader.

The speaker was loudly cheered upon the conclusion of his address, and the morning exercises closed without ceremony.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the Alumni Association met in the Presbyterian Church. The meeting was not so well attended, it was observed, as the Alumni meetings at previous Commencements had been, but there was a sufficiently large number present to make the reunion thoroughly enjoyable and beneficial to the participants. Hon. WM. C. ALEXANDER, of New-York, occupied the chair. The greater portion of the time was consumed by the address of the aged President of the Association, Rev. Dr. MCLEAN, in which an explanation of the object and present purposes, and of the history of the association was succinctly given. It had been in existence forty-four years, having been organized in 1826 with a defective constitution and a board of officers, all of whom, with the exception of the Speaker, were numbered with the dead. The address read by the speaker was a historical document mainly, and valuable as such to the members of the Association, who offered a vote of thanks to their President for his contribution to the literature of the society. STEPHEN ALEXANDER, the well-known Professor of Mathematics, made a short speech, urging upon the members of the association the necessity of doing their utmost to endow the Professorships, and assist the College in preserving its standing. It had now, he said, become the fact that the laborers in the cause of education had to pay for the privilege of instructing the youth by accepting a compensation far below the sum that can be earned in almost any other vocation. He was in favor of giving the College an increased and immediate income.

Rev. Dr. DUFFIELD moved that the present board of officers be re elected for the ensuing year. The proposal was agreed to almost unanimously, the only exception being the President, Rev. Dr. MCLEAN, who desired the election in his stead of Hon. WM. C. ALEXANDER. The President was, however, quietly put down by Mr. Alexander, who insisted that Dr. McLean should still be honored with the dignity of presiding officer. The following officers were then re-elected: President, Rev. John McLean, D. D., LL.D.; Vice-Presidents, Hon. Henry W. Greer, LL.D., Hon. John Gleason, Hon. Wm. C. Alexander, LL.D.: Secretaries, Prof. John T. Duffield, D. D., Prof. Henry C. Cameron; Treasurer, Hon. John A. Stewart.

BROWN.

Opening Exercises at Brown University—Preparations for Commencement.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 28.—The opening exercises of the Brown University took lace today. In the morning the Phi Beta Kappa Society met and re-elected Prof. J. L. DURIAN, President. President ANGELL, of the Vermont University, delivered an address before the Alumni Association at 11 o'clock. The annual meeting of the Alumni was held in the afternoon. The report of the Committee of last year to consider what the Alumni could do to promote the prosperity of the University was presented, sharply discussed and voted down. In the evening Rev. A. J. GORDON, of Boston, preached before the Society of Missionary Inquiry. To-morrow the exercises of the Commencement proper will be held.

THE CATHOLIC COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises of the College of St. Francis Xavier.

The Commencement exercises of the St. Francis Xavier's College, Sixteenth-street, took place last evening. Upward of fifteen hundred persons were present. The exercises consisted of an address, by JAMES F. SWANTON, on "The Orator's Power;" "Spain in the Past," by ALVARO BELANCOURT; "Authority," by THOMAS S. O'BRIEN; "Heroism," by JOHN H. DORRITY, besides recitations and choice selections of vocal and instrumental music by the students of the College. Where the performances were of a markedly superior character, it may be invidious to particularize; yet we cannot refrain from noticing the addresses of Messrs. DORRITY and O'BRIEN, which for purity of diction and grace of delivery could not well be excelled. The award of medals and prizes was one of the chief features in the entertainment. For the gold medal for "Evidences of Religion," there was a tie between Messrs. O'BRIEN and DORRITY, which was decided in favor of the former. Mr. O'BRIEN was also awarded the silver medals for mental philosophy and physics. Rev. Dr. STARRS, who presided, conferred the degree of A. M. on John D. Black, Patrick J. Brophy, Alexander J. Heberman, Cornelius V. Mahony and P. O'Rourke, and the degree of A. B. was bestowed on Messrs. T. O'Brien, John H. Dorrity, J. J. Dollard, J. F. Swanton, A. Belancourt, J. T. McGannan, D. J. Hossen and T. P. McNamara. Dr. STARRS delivered the valedictory address. The graduates then feelingly bade adieu to their Professors, and their beloved Alma Mater, and each other, and the finale was performed by the college band.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 28.

The Senate met at 12 o'clock, and proceeded with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad bill as the business of the morning hour. An amendment by Mr. HARLAN, that neither the original nor the present land grant shall apply to lands within the Indian Territory, and requiring full compensation to owners for lands taken from the Indians for depots, &c., prevailed by—yeas 26, nays 20.

THE TEXAS RAILROAD BILL.

Mr. CAMERON then entered a motion to reconsider the vote on the Texas Railroad bill, so as to amend by providing that the amount of foreign iron to be used should be limited to 20,000 tons. He asked present consideration of the motion, but Mr. CASSERLY objected.

AN EXECUTIVE SESSION.

At 1 o'clock Mr. MORTON moved to go into Executive Session on the San Domingo treaty, on which Mr. SHERMAN demanded the yeas and nays as involving the postponement of the Tax bill. The motion was agreed to—yeas 29, nays 25, and at 1¼ the doors were closed.

THE TAX BILL.

At 1½ o'clock the doors we reopened, when it was agreed, by unanimous consent, that a five minutes' rule of debate on the Tax bill should be enforced for today. The Tax bill was then proceeded with, the question being on the amendment of Mr. YATES which was modified to provide that no duties hereafter shall be levied upon tea and coffee. After discussion, the amendment was rejected—yeas 9, nays 41.

Sugar.

Mr. CAMERON moved to reconsider the vote by which, on a previous a day, the Senate refused to strike out the House provisions reducing the duties on sugar. A vote was taken to 24. The question recurring on striking out the sections in regard to the duties on sugar, Mr. SHERMAN, in reply to inquiries, explained that if the sections were stricken out the duty on sugar would remain as in the law at present, at three cents per pound. If the House proposition prevailed, the duty would be reduced to two cents per pound, making a difference of $11,000,000 of revenue.

The House paragraphs were then stricken out by yeas 27, to nays 26.

Other Articles.

The recommendations of the Finance Committee striking out the House rates on pimento, pepper, and spices of different kinds, on wines, champagne, brandy, cordials and manufactures of cotton, were agreed to. The effect is to leave the duties at 35 per cent. The paragraph relative to corsets and manufactured cloth was withdrawn by Mr. SHERMAN. The new paragraphs, making the duty on eyelets of every description six cents per 1,000, on ultramarine six cents per pound, and regulating the duties on Manila, Russia, and other hemps unmanufactured at $25 per ton, were adopted.

Other amendments were adopted, as follows:

Bagging.

On cotton bagging, or other manufactures not otherwise provided for, suitable for the uses to which cotton bagging is applied, composed in whole or in part of hemp, jute, flax, gunny-bags, gunny-cloth, or other material, and valued less than ten cents per square yard, two cents per pound. On cotton, as above, valued over ten cents per square yard, three cents per pound.

Coal.

The following paragraph was debated:

On bituminous coal and shale, fifty cents for a ton of twenty-eight bushels, eighty pounds to the bushel.

Messrs. BOREMAN, SCOTT and WILLEY opposed the proposed reduction as destructive of the coal interests of West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Without a vote on the paragraph, the Senate, at 5 o'clock, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. SCHUMAKER presented a memorial and resolutions of a mass meeting of citizens of New-York, asking for the passage of laws by Congress protecting laborers and mechanics against coolie or Chinese imported labor.

THE CARTHAGE AND SACKETT'S HARBOR RAILROAD.

Mr. LAFLIN introduced a bill granting right of way to the Carthage, Watertown and Sackett's Harbor Railroad Company through the public property of the United States in the village of Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. Passed.

CIVIL SERVICE APPROPRIATIONS.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole (Mr. BUFFINTON in the chair) on the Sundry Civil Service Appropriation bill, the pending paragraph being an appropriation to pay HORATIO AMES $73,060 due him for wrought iron rifled guns made by him for the navy by order of the Bureau of Ordnance, and tested and accepted by it. Long discussion took place on this item, which was attacked as a mere private claim which should not be inserted in a general appropriation bill, and defended by Mr. DAWES as being not a claim, but a debt which had been liquidated but not paid. The House refused to strike out the paragraph—42 to 78.

Mr. SCHENCK then offered an amendment to pay $650 to JESSE OVERTON for quartermaster's supplies. After a somewhat acrimonious discussion between Messrs. HOLMAN and DAWES, the amendment was rejected.

Mr. CREBS offered an amendment to pay HENRY S. HALLADY and D. T. PASHLEY $7,200, in satisfaction of a judgment in favor of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, on the 7th of July, 1857. After discussion the amendment was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. DAWES, $65,480 was appropriated to pay JOHN FINN for supplies for the Indian service, as per an. itsd voucher.

Mr. SCHENCK, of Ohio, moved an appropriation of $25,000, in addition to a sum of $20,000 appropriated by the joint resolution of the 3d of March, 1869, to procure the making of a contract by the Secretary of War with HENRY M. BROWN, of Newburg, N. Y., for a bronze statue of Gen. SCOTT. He explained the circumstances of the former appropriation, and referred to Mr. BROWN as the modeler of the only respectable equestrian statue in this country, that of WASHINGTON in Union-square, at New-York; all the rest being of the frantic style of art, with the horses rearing on their hind legs in storms of wind, represented as operating on the manes and tails. The amendment was agreed to. The statue is to be erected in Franklin-square, Washington.

Mr. DAWES offered an amendment repealing the law which requires the laying up of five of the six revenue cutters on the Northern lakes, and authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to put four of them in commission, to be specially charged with aiding vessels in distress; and to sell two of them. After discussion between Messrs. Dawes, Bennett, Conger, Lawrence and Churchill the amendment was agreed to, having been modified by striking out the limitation of four to be put in commission and leaving them all to the disposal of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. DAWES moved to insert a section declaring that all letters patent hereafter issued shall be subject to the right of the United States to use the matter or thing patented, and to manufacture the same for the use of the Government free of charge.

Mr. MYERS opposed it as a blow to inventors and as a matter which should have been referred to the Committee on Patents.

Mr. DAWES withdrew the amendment to avoid a further consumption of time.

On motion of Mr. DAWES, section 4, authorizing a light-vessel on the Choptank River, in Virginia, was stricken out.

The Committee rose and reported the bill, which was then passed.

ALASKA FUR ANIMALS.

The House then, at 3 o'clock, proceeded to the business of the morning hour, being the consideration of reports from the Committee on Commerce. Mr. DIXON reported the substitute for the Senate bill to prevent the extermination of fur-bearing animals in Alaska. He explained and advocated the bill, and moved the previous question, refusing to allow amendments to be offered or further discussion to be had. The previous question was seconded, and the bill passed by yeas 121, nays 37.

IMPORTS IN BOND.

Mr. FINKELNBERG, from the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill to regulate the appraisement and inspection of imports in certain cases, allowing the transportation of imported articles in bond, except wine, distilled spirits and perishable or explosive articles, from New-York, Boston, Baltimore, Port Huron and New-Orleans to any seaports, or to Portland, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Evansville and Milwaukee.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, protested against the bill as one that would entail large frauds on the revenue. The bill was passed.

DUTY ON SALT.

Mr. SCHENCK, Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, reported in accordance with the resolution of the House, adopted yesterday, a bill to reduce the duty on all kinds of salt fifty per cent., and moved its reference to a Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, asked Mr. SCHENCK whether, if so referred, it would be reached this session?

Mr. SCHENCK said he could not inform him whether it would or not.

The Speaker, in reply to questions by Mr. COX, said that the making the bill a special order in committee would not help it. The House could, by the same majority as would make it a special order, set aside all preceding orders and take it up.

The bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole by a vote of 73 to 59.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

Mr. GARFIELD, from the Conference Committee on the Currency bill, called up the report submitted yesterday, and proceeded to explain it. The three matters of difference between the House and the Senate were: first, as to the increase of the national bank currency over the present limit—$300,000,000; second, as to the amount to be taken from the Eastern, excessive States, and distributed to the States deficient; and third, as to the establishment of free banking on a gold basis. As to the first point, the additional issue of national bank notes, two of his colleagues on the Conference Committee were in favor of the $95,000,000 addition, and they did all they could to impress that view on the Senate Conference, but they found that the Senators would not yield on that point, and they were forced to accept the addition of $45,000,000 or to fail in an agreement.

Mr. ELDRIDGE moved to adjourn, remarking that members were tired out, and that the hall was very hot. The thermometer indicated 90°.

The motion was agreed to, and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The only sales made yesterday at the Exchange were those effected by LAWRENCE, OAKLEY & FLEURY, as follows: A two-story brick building and lot, 22x89.6, (the building covering the entire lot,) on the north side of Eighteenth-street, 170 feet east of Seventh-avenue. The building is used as a distillery, and rents for $1,400 per annum. The property was sold subject to a mortgage of $5,000, and was struck off for $12,000. A similar building, used as a stable, adjoining, renting for $2,200 per annum, together with a lot 18x89.6, sold subject to a mortgage of $9,000, brought $10,000. The same firm also disposed of two lots adjoining each other, each 25x100.5, on the south side of Fifty-seventh-street, 130 feet east of Madison-avenue, for $14,750 and $13,500, respectively. Five lots adjoining the above, and the property on Thirty-fourth-street, advertised to be sold, was withdrawn. A cottage with 25 acres of land, located at Syossett, L. I., was also offered but not sold. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., offered two residences, handsomely located in Morrisania, one situated between Avenues B and C, near Cliff-street, and the other on Westchester-avenue. The first one was nominally knocked down for $8,000, and they were finally both withdrawn. This firm also offered at auction the ferry lease of the Jackson-street and Navy-Yard Ferry, said to be a good investment for a "small enterprising company." No one bidding, this property was also withdrawn.

E. H. LUDLOW & Co. offered the valuable property known as No. 28 Walker-street, 25 feet west of Church-street. The auctioneer stated that any bid over $20,000 would be received and the premises sold. Such bid was not received, and the property was accordingly not sold. The attendance yesterday at the Exchange was large, but no desire was evinced on the part of those present to invest, and the day was consequently a dull one and the reverse of what was anticipated from the quality of the property offered.

For today, the principal sales announced are those of New-Jersey property by A. D. MELLICK, Jr., & BROTHER, of 300 village lots at Chatham, and by LAWRENCE, OAKLEY & FLEURY, of about the same number at Tenafly. For both of these sales a large number of tickets have been issued, and both bid fair to be well attended. The property in each instance is a good one, and furnishes a rare chance for investors. As to the manner of reaching the ground, time and terms of sale, &c., all the particulars will be found in the advertising columns. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co., at the Exchange, also today, sell a large number of desirable lots located at Fordham, in Westchester County.

To-morrow, the great sale of JOHNSON & MILLER, of Staten Island property, takes place at Linden Park Village. For this sale the preparations made are on an extensive scale, and the well-known go-ahead qualities of the auctioneers is a sufficient guarantee that they will be carried out. Aside from the attractions offered for an enjoyable time, the property itself is finely situated, and only thirty-five minutes from New-York. The auction furnishes an opportunity desired by hundreds—that of obtaining a good home near the City for little money.

The sale of MALLORY & BLACKWELL, yesterday, of Tarrytown property, was well attended, and such lots as were offered met with a ready sale. The plots disposed of averaged about three City lots each, and the price realized proves clearly the value placed upon property in Westchester County. Twenty-nine of the plots sold are reported below, from which it will be seen that the aggregate sum received was over $40,000, or an average per plot of nearly $1,400. This price is really larger than that received for the lots sold at Grand Park, where the average was $1,425, but in that case five houses, four of which were new, valued at $8,000 a piece, were sold with the property. In this sale of MALLORY & BLACKWELL'S, lots only were disposed of, and the price received speaks for itself.

The sale of New-Jersey property, yesterday, by A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BROTHER, at Dundee Lake and Lake View, near Paterson, was also well attended, and the lots sold at fair prices, although not as large as the merits of the property deserved. Each lot was City size, 25x100, and this fact must be taken into consideration when the result of the sale is scrutinized. 164 lots in all were disposed of, at an average price of over $130 per lot. The total amount received from the sale is over $20,000, a very gratifying result. Full details of both of the above sales will be found in today's summary, as will also the transactions effected at the Exchange.

PROPOSALS
FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A STEAM PROPELLER OF IRON FOR THE COAST SURVEY.
COAST SURVEY OFFICE, }
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22, 1870. }
Separate sealed proposals will be received at this office until 12 o'clock, July 20, for building a steam propeller of iron, for Coast Survey service, of the size of 350 tons, O. M., below main deck.
Measurements for tonnage according to old Custom-house rules, taking the length on the load-line from forward part of stem to after-part of forward stern post, breadth of beam molded and depth of hold from under part of deck to top of keel.
General specifications and plans of arrangement and general style of the vessel, will be furnished bidders on application to the Collector of Customs, Boston, New-York and Philadelphia, and at this office.
A guaranteed speed of eight knots an hour, under steam alone, in a trial trip at sea, for a distance of not less than 260 miles, upon a consumption of coal not exceeding four tons per twenty-four hours, will be required. In addition, a guaranteed speed of four knots an hour under steam alone, for a further distance of 250 miles at sea, upon a consumption of coal not exceeding 1¼ tons for twenty-four hours, will be required. This speed is about that at which the vessel will be run when at work surveying. Economy in the consumption of coal, engineer's stores, and in wear and tear of engine and boiler, is of primary importance. Most favorable consideration will be given to bids in accordance with the economy guaranteed in those expenses, and more particularly with the consumption of coal under steam alone, guaranteed at a rate less than that stipulated at the given speeds.
The trial trip will be between the places given below. If the vessel is built at Boston, the trip to be to New-York and back. If built at New-York, to Boston and back, or to Hampton Roads and back. If built on the Delaware, to Newport and back. If built at Baltimore, to Delaware Breakwater and back. This trial trip, if satisfactory, to be at the expense of the Government; if not, then at the expense of the contractor.
The work will be carried on under the personal supervision and inspection of an officer or agent of the Coast Survey, and every facility must be offered him for inspecting the materials and workmanship. Such parts of either as are not in accordance with the drawings and specifications will be rejected, and must be made good by the contractor.
No bids will be considered for this vessel, except from parties regularly engaged in iron-ship building.
The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.
Each bid must be accompanied by a written guarantee, signed by the bidder and a competent surety, (certified to be such by some officer known to this office or the Treasury Department,) in the sum of $20,000, that in the event of the acceptance of such bid, the necessary contract will be entered into within ten days after notice is given by this office that such bid has been accepted, and for the faithful execution of the contract.
The bid should state the sum for which the vessel will be completed, as aforesaid.
Six months from the date of signing the contract will be allowed for the time in which the vessel is to be completed.
A copy of each of the general plans and specifications furnished, together with a copy of the advertisement, must be inclosed with each bid, as an evidence of the object of the proposal.
All proposals must be signed, sealed and indorsed, "Proposal for Coast Survey Steamer," and inclosed in an envelope addressed to Prof. Benjamin Peirce, Superintendent Coast Survey, Washington, D. C.
This vessel must be built in accordance with the American Lloyd's specifications for A No. 1 iron vessels for twenty years.
Bidders will be required to furnish with their bids two plans, one on main deck and one below, with an elevation showing the internal arrangements with a view to obtain the best disposition of the several parts.
Any bidder may be present and witness the opening of the bids.
The party whose bid is accepted will be required to furnish an acceptable model, with full detailed plans and specifications, before the contract is closed.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.
BAHAMAS' MAIL CONTRACT.
Tenders addressed to the Colonial Secretary, Nassau, New-Providence, will be received by the Government of the Bahamas, until the 16th day of September next, for the conveyance by a steam vessel, or vessels, of Her Majesty's mails between Nassau and New-York.
The service will have to be performed either fortnightly, or every four weeks, as may be ultimately decided on by the Bahamas Government, and the parties tendering must consequently state the rate at which they are willing to contract for the different modes of service, or may tender for both, or may confine themselves to either separately. Every contract vessel must be of not less capacity than five hundred tons net measurement, i. e., exclusive of space required for machinery, &c., of at least seven and one-half knots average speed, be able to accommodate at least thirty first-class passengers, if the service be a fortnightly one, and a proportionate larger number if a monthly, with space for the storage of from forty to sixty tons of cargo, and be of such a draught of water when loaded as to enable her in ordinary weather to enter the Harbor of Nassau for the purpose of landing and taking on board mails, passengers and freight.
A form of tender and the conditions of contract may be seen at the Secretary's office in Nassau, and at the office of H. B. M.'s Consul in New-York.

QUARANTINE COMMISSION.

Important Meeting—Yellow Fever in the Lower Bay—Dr. Carnochan and the Bark Tyen.

A regular meeting of the Quarantine Commissioners was held yesterday. Present—Commissioners SCHELL, A. N. BELL, BARTON, the Health Officer, and the Counselor of the Board. On application of the Health Officer, the following appeal was read by the Secretary:

NEW-YORK, June 21, 1870.

To John M. Carnochan, Esq., M. D., Health Officer of the Port of New-York:

SIR: Having been advised that you have decided at 10 o'clock A. M. this day that the cargo of coffee laden on the Danish bark TYEN, ISSOR Master, from Rio to this port, must be discharged at the Upper Quarantine, and that the same cannot be brought to New-York unless said vessel has been fumigated, although, to the best of our knowledge, no case of sickness has occurred on said vessel since she left Rio, and her cargo consists entirely of coffee, you will please take notice that we, J. L. PHIPPS & CO., as the consignees of said cargo of coffee, and FUNCH, EDYE & CO., on behalf of said vessel, being aggrieved by such decision, do severally appeal from the same to the Commissioners of Quarantine for the purpose of procuring a reversal or a modification of such decision. Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

J. L. PHIPPS & CO.,
FUNCH, EDYE & CO.

In response, the Health Officer presented the following:

QUARANTINE, STATEN ISLAND, June 28, 1870.

To the Commissioners of Quarantine:

The paper hereto annexed, purporting to be an appeal, was served on me yesterday. I have made no such decision as is therein stated in reference to bark Tyen. The vessel in question arrived at this port from Rio Janeiro on the 24th inst., and, being from a port infected with yellow fever, was and is by law required to remain at Quarantine for at least thirty days after her arrival, and at least twenty days after the discharge of her cargo, unless sooner permitted by the Health Officer, with the approval of the Quarantine Commissioners, to proceed. I have granted no permit for the vessel or cargo to proceed, and consequently both are detained under the law in Quarantine. On the arrival of the vessel the Master was informed that she was by law subject to a quarantine of thirty days, but that after a detention of a few days, in case no sickness appeared on board, permit would be granted for the discharge of the cargo in the Upper Bay. No other order, direction or decision has been made or given by me in reference to the vessel or cargo, except in regard to the cleansing and fumigating of the vessel. I therefore respectfully submit that no case has arisen in reference to this vessel which can in any way be the subject of an appeal.

As an evidence that Rio Janeiro is an infected port, I append hereto a list of vessels from that port having cases of yellow fever on board, either in port or on the passage, which have arrived at this Quarantine since April 1, the beginning of the vessels quarantine season. From this list it will be seen that yellow fever prevailed extensively at Rio in the early part of the season, and I am yet without any evidence of the abatement of the disease at that port. The bark Tyen arrived without any bill of health whatever. In answer to the usual inquiries of the boarding officer, the Master stated that she had no sickness on board at the port of departure; but an examination of the log-book showed that she had seventy-two of the crew to hospital at Rio sick with yellow fever, of whom one was left behind. With this evidence of the existence of yellow fever at Rio Janeiro and on board the vessel at her port of departure, I should deem myself grossly neglectful of the public health should I allow either the vessel or cargo to come up immediately to the wharves of the City.

J. M. CARNOCHAN, Health Officer.

A list of sixteen vessels from Rio Janeiro, having cases of yellow fever on board, either in port or on the passage, which have arrived at Quarantine since April 1, was appended.

Mr. BELL said it seemed proper, in compliance with the request of the appellants, to refer the papers to the executive session, and so notify the appellants.

The Health Officer said the case of the bark Tyen did not admit of appeal as he had merely carried out the law in regard to it.

Dr. BELL said a vessel was not necessarily in Quarantine until the Health Officer had made a decision placing it there.

Dr. CARNOCHAN replied that the Deputy Health Officer had decided that the Tyen was from an infected port, and had told the Master that she must stop in the Lower Bay.

As Dr. BELL still seemed in favor of granting the appeal, at the request of the Health Officer, the consideration of the Board gave his opinion that, if the Board accepted the answer of the Health Officer as truthful, there was no cause for an appeal. On motion of Mr. BARTON, the documents were placed on file, and the Secretary was directed to notify the appellants of that fact.

The Health Officer then submitted his report, which showed that the bark Saga, from Guantanamo, and the schooner Isaac Oliver, from Portau-Prince, had arrived at Lower Quarantine with yellow fever on board, since his last report of the 25th inst.

The executive session to determine the rates of compensation for lighterage at Quarantine, will be held today at 2 P. M.

Safe Arrival of the Steamer Henry Chauncey.

The steam-ship Henry Chauncey, about which so much anxiety was felt a fortnight ago, on account of her detention, arrived last evening from Aspinwall in company with the steam-ship Alaska, of the same line. The Henry Chauncey left Aspinwall on the evening of the 24 of June, with between 400 and 500 passengers on board, and had barely got outside the harbor when one of her shaft is broke and she was compelled to put back. No confusion or excitement took place on board at the time of the accident, and many of the passengers who were in their berths were unaware of what occurred until, on awakening the next morning, they found themselves in the port of Aspinwall. Immediate steps were taken to repair the vessel, but as there is no way of refitting there, and as the Henry Chauncey is a side-wheeler, and a fine staunch craft, the Captain removed the buckets from the disabled wheel and prepared to start on his voyage, trusting to the shaft which remained sound. The underwriters, however, objected to the departure of the vessel in her disabled condition, as they considered it too great a risk to run, especially with so many passengers on board, unless she could procure a convoy. The Captain dispatched a sail-boat after the United States ship Nipsic, which had been engaged in the exploring expedition at the Isthmus of Panama, but she had sailed for the Bay of Panama, and nothing now remained but to wait for the sailing of the Alaska. The Captain of the Henry Chauncey anchored out in the Bay and enforced such strict sanitary regulations that no cases of sickness occurred on board, and, with the exception of two deaths from consumption, the passengers arrived in better health than they were in when they started from San Francisco. At length, on the 19th, the Alaska was ready to start, and the two vessels steamed off in company, and arrived here without further accident, only two days behind time.

WEST, President of the Society for the Prevention of Gambling, and his Secretary, HENRY GALWAY, who were in custody on a charge of swindling Mr. JAS. RUSSELL, No. 208 East Eleventh-street, became their bondsman. Ere the announcement of their release was made public, a new warrant was issued by Judge SHANDLEY for their apprehension on a charge of libel preferred against them by CHARLES G. GOTTSCHALK, a clerk in the employment of HECHT BROS., Nos. 488 and 486 Broadway. It will be remembered that among other charges mentioned on the previous trial, was one contained on the statement of HECHT BROS., who declared that by representing Mr. GOTTSCHALK to them as a gambler, and promising to connect him with several gambling-saloons, the Society induced them to give them $15.

Rev. CHARLES B. SMYTH lectured last evening at Steinway Hall on "Practical Temperance as opposed to the failure of Total Abstinence." Practical temperance comprehends, he said, all the relations of life, and is much better than total abstinence with the true dignity of man. It begets forbearance for each others' failings and shortcomings in every relation of man to man, if properly exercised. The practice between pastor and church would lead to far different results than were witnessed in the "gin and milk" affair. In short, temperance meant merely self-control, and not total abstinence, and was more in accordance with the rights of citizens. There were but few persons present, and they were not very enthusiastic.

The wholesale butchers of Washington Market state the recent decline in the railway transportation of cattle, sheep and hogs over the competing railways has not had as much effect upon prices as was generally anticipated. But a trifling reduction in meats has as yet taken place, but one of the reasons for it is stated to be the high price and scarcity of ice with which to preserve the carcasses. However, the cattle pens about the City are now nearly filled with live stock, and the prices must, it is thought, materially drop before the close of the present week.

BROOKLYN.

The difficulty between Mayor KALBFLEISCH and the Park Commission seems to have been pretty well settled. Yesterday it was intended by the Commission, if he had not changed his position, to have moved for another mandamus; as it was, however, he indicated his willingness to sign enough of the wished-for bonds to keep the work in the Park in progress, and the motion was not made. But today, should he exhibit any indisposition to hold back, as he has done hitherto, the Court will certainly issue an order compelling him to sign the bonds.

The news is bad in many points of view, but the intelligence that an issue of superb hats, especially for the Fourth of July holidays, will be made by the inimitable KNOX, in very agreeable indeed. The forthcoming fashions will eclipse all previous styles that have emanated from No. 212 Broadway, corner of Fulton-street, brilliant as these have invariably been. The silk, straw, felt, canvass and other varieties of head-gear now offered by KNOX, show that the hatter is paying close attention to the comfort of the community.

JIM. FISK tried to stop the Morris and Essex cars from running through the tunnel on Saturday, but he could no more stop them than you could stop one of the J. S. Johnston & Robinson Watches from keeping the very best of time.

These watches, together with fine jewelry, diamonds and silver-ware are to be had only at No. 150 Bowery, corner of Broome-street.
